LAWMAKERS SPLIT OVER TRUMAN PROPOSAL TO HALT COMMUNISM

Reds Expected To Brand Plan Interference

London, Athens Hail "Generous Offer"

[By The Associated Press]

President Truman's proposal to a joint session of Congress yesterday that the United States extend military and economic aid to Greece and Turkey was welcomed in London and Athens but in Moscow, Eddy Gilmore, chief of the Associated Press Moscow Bureau, said it was expected that the Soviet would brand Truman's plan as United States interference in the internal affairs of other nations.

At United Nations headquarters at Lake Success an informed source described the reaction to the President's proposal as "apprehensive" silence while in Washington some members of Congress said United Nations prestige and usefulness had suffered a damaging blow.

Government quarters in London described Mr. Truman's plan as a "generous offer" and expressed "great appreciation" for the President's "wise recognition of wider issues involved in the present Greek situation."

No Conflict With British Views

Truman's stand against imposition of minority governments in Europe, they said, did not conflict in any way with Britain's views expressed in recent notes to Communist-dominated Poland, Romania and Bulgaria.

Greek Foreign Minister Constantin Tsaldaris said in a message to Mr. Truman that the Greek people heard the "momentous message" with a feeling of "true relief."

"I venture to forecast," Tsaldaris said, "that like that historic lend-lease act which marked the starting point towards final victory, so your today's message will prove equally decisive in winning the peace and democracy."

The speech was received with profound satisfaction everywhere except in Communist circles in Greece.

Gilmore, writing before the Russian press or radio had taken cognizance of the President's speech, said that Soviet writers and officials doubtless will repeat previous charges of dollar diplomacy.

He added that no single action by the United States in many months, perhaps years, has caused such concern among the Russians as this one will. He said also that the statement is bound to cause disappointment among the Russian people.

Gromyko Has No Comment

At Lake Success, neither Secretary-General Trygve Lie nor Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko commented. Both said they had heard the broadcast.

The attention of United Nations secretariat leaders centered on that section of the President's speech in which he said the United Nations had been by-passed because the United Nations and "its related organization are not in a position to extend help of the kind that is required."

Rep. Owens (R-Ill) declared in Washington, however, that "the United Nations died today."

But Sen. Morse (R-Ore) and Sen. Kilgore (D-W Va) agreed in the belief that Mr. Truman was trying to attain the very principles for which the United Nations was founded.

Creation Of State Barber Inspection Board Urged

ANNAPOLIS, March 12 (AP)—To insure the enforcement of health regulations in Maryland's barber shops, Delegate Didomenico (D-Balto 2nd) urged creation of a state inspection board at a hearing attended by 75 barbers today.

Didomenico has introduced a bill to authorize barber inspectors to operate under a board whose expenses would be met by practicing barbers.

Senate Votes 59-23 To Limit Presidents' Service To 10 Years

Decision To Submit Amendment To States Comes Late In Unusual Nocturnal Session

WASHINGTON, March 12—(AP)—The Senate voted 59 to 23 tonight to submit to the states a constitutional amendment limiting the maximum service of future presidents to 10 years.

The decision came late in an unusual night session after the leadership once had decided to delay action after a long argument about Franklin D. Roosevelt, in which Sen. Brooks (R-Ill) had shouted that America is again headed for war.

Also more than half an hour was devoted to discussion of whether to take up the nomination of David E. Lilienthal to head the Atomic Energy Commission.

The final tally provided the necessary two-thirds margin. A voice vote in the afternoon set the limitation terms.

"Now we've got to fight Russia," said Brooks, after noting that President Truman has asked money "to stop Russia in Greece and Turkey."

Unusual Night Session

"We're starting all over again. We're sending military personnel—that means armies, it means tanks, it means war. Why not say it?"

Brooks was arguing in an unusual night session with Sen. Pepper (D-Fla) who protested that any limit on future Presidents would be a slur on the Roosevelt record.

Pepper talked—with interruptions—for nearly two hours and the leadership decided to drop the presidential tenure bill for the present.

Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) told Pepper that Mr. Roosevelt won a third term by promising that American boys would not be sent to fight on foreign soil.

Pepper said the late President had added, "unless we are attacked," but Hickenlooper disputed this.

The decision to set the limit on White House tenure was reached on a voice vote during the afternoon.

Taft Proposal Approved

The approved term limit was proposed by Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) who described it as a "perfectly fair compromise" between widely varying limitations. It will supplant a Senate Judiciary Committee proposal that future Presidents be limited to two terms plus one year.

President Truman specifically is exempted from the action. Taft, arguing for this, said that Mr. Truman advanced from the vice presidency without knowledge of any limitation. And, he told a reporter, this will eliminate "any charge that this is legislation against" the present Chief Executive. Sen. Tydings (D-Md) sponsored this move with Taft.

The House already has passed a resolution providing that no person who has served all or part of any two terms will be eligible to hold the presidency.

The Senate version, thus differing, will have to go back to the House for concurrence or for reference to a Senate-House conference committee.

Winston Churchill, 75, Noted American Author, Succumbs

WINTER PARK, Fla., March 12 — (AP) — Winston Churchill, well-known American author, died of a heart attack here this afternoon. He was 75.

A native of St. Louis, Churchill was a graduate of United States Naval Academy, but devoted his talents to writing. He was the author of such widely-read novels as "The Celebrity," "The Inside of the Cup," "Richard Carvell," "The Crisis," and "The Dwelling Place of Light."

Churchill arrived at Winter Park two days ago from Windsor, Vt., and had planned to spend several weeks here. He was visiting friends at the time of his death.

"No Confidence" Motion Is Voted Out By Commons

Churchill Suffers 374 To 198 Defeat

LONDON, March 12 (AP)—An overwhelming Labor majority in the House of Commons smothered Winston Churchill's "no confidence" motion against the government, 374 to 198, tonight after a three-day debate on economic affairs of the nation.

The vote was taken after a bitter attack by Churchill, Conservative leader, who accused the Attlee government of "a crime against the British state and people "and of sacrificing the nation's prosperity for "a socialist dream or nightmare."

White Paper Plan Approved

As the debate was winding up the government was disclosed to be writing a new four-year plan and preparing to assume wartime powers to wage a campaign of economic recovery.

The Labor majority then approved, 371 to 204, the government's white paper plan for recovery for 1947.

A source close to the British Cabinet said a new production chief, a sort of economic prime minister, already had been selected to direct the nation's battle for economic recovery during the next two or three years.

A new white paper, supplementing the recent white paper outlining an economy plan for 1947, is being prepared which will give a four-year plan, he said.

Production Chief's Name Withheld

The name of the new production chief, an industrialist with wide planning and administrative experience who had a major job in the war, will be announced next week, it was said. He will have wide powers to allocate contracts for essential equipment to any firm inside or outside Britain to re-equip British industry, take measures for realization of the government's production targets, and direct the output of smaller industries into channels where it is most needed.

Rebel Paraguayan City Under Siege

ASUNCION, Paraguay, March 12 (AP) — The Paraguayan government announced tonight that the rebel stronghold of Concepcion had been placed under siege and that loyal troops rushed from other parts of the coutry had ringed the city.

Civilians supporting the government were asked to form irregular battalions to aid the loyal forces in forming road blocks to prevent the flight of the rebel leaders.

The 600 to 700 rebellious soldiers in the city on the banks of the Paraguay River still were appealing by radio to other military units to join them, the government said, but the rest of the forces in the country were remaining loyal.

There still was no official announcement that fighting actually had begun. The government said that "in an effort to avoid useless bloodshed it was doing all possible to persuade the rebels to surrender but at the same time was taking all security measures necessary."

The national committee of the Colorado Party, which is supporting the government, broadcast a manifesto to party members in northern cities telling them to form partisan groups to fight the rebels.

Fire At Findlay, Ohio, Brought Under Control

FINDLAY, O., March 12 (AP)—After a five-hour battle, firemen from Findlay and Fostoria brought under control today flames that swept through four business buildings in the center of this city.

Fire Chief R. W. Dehayes estimated building damage at $175,000. Unofficial estimates of owners on damage to property and stocks ranged from $200,000 to $500,000.

Bank Robber, Now Behind Bars, Says He's Heir To $350,000 Fortune

PITTSBURGH, March 12 (AP) — Behind the bars at Western Penitentiary a young bank robber with more than 19 years to serve gleefully claimed today to be heir to a $350,000 wool fortune at Buffalo, N. Y.

The convict is 30-year-old John Simmons, one of four men who took $5,311 from the First National Bank of Eldred, Pa., in a bold daylight robbery in 1941.

Warden Stanley Ashe said Simmons claimed to be the nephew and heir of Isadore Cohn, wealthy Buffalo wool merchant who died last New Year's Eve in an auto accident.

Simmons learned about the estate by listening to a radio program which was seeking missing heirs of Cohn. He promptly filed a claim, writing to Public Administrator Samuel Sapowitch, of Buffalo, that "due to my unfortunate circumstance and my incarceration, my true identity and relationship to the Cohn family never was made public."

Sapowitch came to the prison today to take a statement from Simmons. About 300 claims have been entered for the estate, but Sapowitch said that if Simmon's claim is true, he is the closest heir and would receive the fortune.

"He showed no remorse over his situation," the Buffalo official said. "He feels sure he's the man and is very much delighted over the prospect of coming into so much money.

"He didn't say anything about how he'd like to spend it—of course, he's got a long time to go."

British Reimpose Curfew On 50,000 Jerusalem Jews

Raiders, Blockade Runners Are Sought

JERUSALEM, March 12 (AP)—Britain's Palestine government reimposed a dusk-to-dawn curfew on Jewish quarters of Jerusalem tonight in a swift reaction to a new series of commando-like attacks attributed to the Jewish underground.

With more than half of the Holy Land's 700,000 Jews already under modified martial law, the new regulation placed some 50,000 others under nightly house arrest, and banned all vehicular traffic in the predominantly Jewish North Coastal Plain.

The British action came after a series of events which included a daring pre-dawn bombing of a military depot in Jerusalem by "commando" raiders in which one soldier was killed and eight others injured."

Immigration Ship Beached

Developments included the beaching on the southern coast near Gaza of the illegal immigration ship Susanna, 400 tons, largest vessel ever to run the British blockade successfully.

Eluding a British destroyer in the darkness, the Susanna ran straight for the beach and about 700 of the nearly 1,000 passengers apparently got ashore, said Associated Press dispatches from the scene.

The army intercepted six buses and two trucks which had been drawn up to carry the refugees away from the beach, and about 500 out of the immigrants were rounded up, the dispatches said. About 200 were believed to have escaped into surrounding fields, however.

Two British seamen and an officer were drowned in the surf when their whaleboat was overturned in an effort to overtake some of the

U. S. Ship Strikes Mine; Casualty Reports Differ

Genoa Says Only Six Of Crew Of 44 Saved

NEW YORK, March 12. (AP)—American Export Lines said tonight its 6,597-ton freighter, the Exanthia, had struck a mine off the island of Pianosa, south of Leghorn, Italy, but that no casualties among crew members had been reported.

(In Genoa, however, port authorities said that only six of the Exanthia's crew of 44 were known to have been saved. The Italian news agency Ansa added that semaphore signals received from Cao Serra on the Island of Elba disclosed that there were dead and wounded aboard the wrecked ship. The news agency said that the explosion tore a large hole in the ship's bow).

John F. Gehan, American Export Lines vice president, said he had been notified that 27 members of the 44-man crew had been landed on the Island of Pianosa, and that an "indefinite number" of other crew members had been landed at Porto Ferraio, on the Island of Elba, which is near the island of Pianosa.

Gehan said the shipping firm had received three dispatches on the accident—the first that the ship had struck a mine; the second that the ship had been abandoned, and a third telling about the crew.

Tanker Breaks In Two

HONOLULU, March 12. (AP)—The Maritime Commission tanker Fort Dearborn, with 43 men aboard, sent out an SOS today that she had broken in two approximately 800 miles northwest of Honolulu.

Six ships and a Navy search plane sped to the scene.

The tanker, with 110,000 barrels of Diesel oil aboard, left San Francsco March 4 for Shanghai.

(Tankers of her class normally carry a crew of 35 to 40).

Maryland Improvements Department Plan Sails Through Senate To House

Declaration Of Intention Repealer Killed

ANNAPOLIS, Md., March 12 (AP)—Gov. Lane's plan for creation of a Maryland Department of Improvements headed by a state chief engineer went smoothly through the Senate tonight by a unanimous vote.

The measure, which will give the engineer supervisory authority over public construction which the state may undertake, now goes to the House.

The improvement department was a part of the Governor's program enunciated at his inauguration.

Also without debate, and to the surprise of the Senate, a bill for wide revision of the unemployment compensation laws was passed and sent over to the House.

Both houses held night sessions, the House of Delgates recessing in the afternoon to meet again in the evening.

At its afternoon session the House, by technical maneuvers, killed a bill for repeal of the Maryland Declarations of Intention Act. The method in which it was done meant that no such measure may again be considered at this session, although the Senate has passed a repealer which is now a House committee.

The delegates also rejected, by adopting an unfavorable committee report, a bill which would have recised Maryland legal procedure so that the judges could instruct juries on the law in criminal cases. At present, juries are judges of both the facts and the law.

At the night session the delegates passed 115-4 and sent to the Senate a measure for creation of a seven-member water pollution commission.

This bill had met opposition from the State Planning Commission, health department and various counties and cities, and was amended several times before passage.

As it now stands, the bill would direct the health department to continue its present anti-pollution activities. The new commission would take over enforcement duties now performed by the Tidewater

Bevin Counterattack Evokes Conciliatory Russian Concessions

Big 4 Ministers' Third Session Reflects No Increase In Tension Despite New U. S. Policy

MOSCOW, March 12—(AP)—A spirited "counterattack" by Ernest Bevin evoked surprisingly conciliatory concessions tonight from V. M. Molotov in the Council of Foreign Ministers just as news of President Truman's declaration of support to Greece and Turkey reached Moscow.

It was not believed that the softening of the Russian Foreign Minister's position was due to Mr. Tru- Metriterranean countries, however. man's statement of policy on the Mediterranean countries, however. The return of the Russian ambas- was taken as an indication that the Russians knew that the President's move was in the offing.

There was no official Russian explanation on the return of the ambassadors. American correspondents who have lived in Russia for several years pointed out, however, that since the Foreign Secretaries of Britain and the United States already were in Moscow, it might only be natural for the ambassadors to those countries to be summoned home.

Molotov Makes Concessions

The third session of the ministers, at which Molotov agreed to disclose the number of German prisoners of war held in Russia and to fix a date for the destruction of certain Russian-held German ships, reflected no increase in tension, despite the new United States policy and the recall of the ambassadors.

There seemed to be no doubt, however, that the development of a much tougher United States policy would influence future sessions. There was every indication here that United States Secretary of State Marshall intended to conduct American diplomacy on the basis that the United States was a real power.

Some diplomatic sources said Mr. Truman's announcement was timed to coincide with Marshall's presence in Moscow, and that the effect was to let the Russians know that if they want to do business under the new policy, now is the time to get to work—otherwise the outlook may be gloomy.

(Mr. Truman, in an address to a joint session of Congress, urged that the United States send $400,000,000 to Greece and Turkey, and asked for authority to detail civilian and military personnel to supervise distribution of the aid furnished. He did not mention Russia by name, but he said that "Communists" were leading "terrorist activities" against the Greek government.

Marshall Supports Bevin

(A dispatch from Paris quoted the Soviet Embassy there as saying that the Russian ambassador to France, Alexander Bogomolov, also might leave for Moscow "in a few days.")

The exchange between the Russian and British ministers came on the question of the demilitarization of Germany, and dominated today's meeting. Marshall supported Bevin, and French Foreign Secretary Georges Bidault, who presided, stayed out of the discussion.

Molotov agreed to disclose to the conference the number of German prisoners held in Russia, on condition that other powers do likewise. He conceded that Russia had been tardy in carrying out Potsdam commitments to destroy certain German naval vessels, and promised to fix a date soon for their destruction.

Pittsburgh Blast Kills One Woman

PITTSBURGH, March 12 (AP)—A terrific explosion killed one woman today, injured at least seven other persons, and destroyed two homes in nearby Wilkinsburg.

Police and firemen, fearing additional blast from gas leaking out of mains, blocked off a 300-foot stretch of the street in the vicinity of the blast and ordered many families to evacuate their homes. Traffic was detoured.

Killed was Mrs. Jean Rapp, 41, standing on the front porch of her home with her two children. The children, Jeannette, 1, and William 4, were rescued from the debris by passers-by but firemen were unable to reach Mrs. Rapp because of flames which shot 20 feet into the air.

The Rapp home burst into flames immediately and soon afterward collapsed. Witnesses said Mrs. Rapp, wife of a telephone company employe, was buried waist deep in the debris of her front home and could be heard calling for help. Her body was not recovered for about two hours.

Several of those injured were women standing on their porches watching Wilkinsburg borough workmen fight a fire which broke out while they were installing a new gas main. One of the injured was a fireman. All suffered shock and cuts.

Heart Attack Fatal To Aged Wisconsin Governor Goodland

MADISON, Wis., March 12—(AP)—Gov. Walter S. Goodland, 85, the nation's oldest state chief executive, died tonight.

Gov. Goodland was striken with a heart attack after dinner and died at his home at 10:15 p. m.

A Republican, Goodland became Governor of Wisconsin in 1944 at the age of 82 when he was elevated from the post of Lieutenant Governor by the death of Governor-elect Orlando S. Loomis.

Goodland appeared to be in good spirits after his dinner at the executive mansion, but retired early. He was in bed when he suffered the heart attack.

Legislator Seen With Slain Rail Head Threatened

Committee, Alarmed, Asks Probes By FBI

WASHINGTON, March 12—(AP)—Aroused and alarmed, the House Labor Committee asked FBI investigations today of a telephoned threat against one of its members and the killing of George P. McNear, Jr., who was a witness before the committee 10 days ago.

Chairman Hartley (R-N. J.) laid both cases before the Justice Department in a letter to Attorney General Clark.

The threat was reported by Rep. Kearns (R-Pa.). He told the committee it came last night in an anonymous telephone call.

"The caller," Kearns related, "said I'd been seen dining with McNear and I'd better change my ideas about labor."

McNear, president of the struck Toledo, Peoria and Western Railroad, was shot to death from ambush Monday night as he strolled near his home in Peoria, Ill.

As a witness before the House committee, McNear had urged that Congress restrict union activities.

Kearns told the committee that while McNear was in Washington they had a long talk. He and Mrs. Kearns were dining at the Wardman Park Hotel, he said, when McNear came to their table. For two hours, he said, they discussed railroading. Kearns is a former railroad man.

Hartley declared he is "thoroughly convinced there is a direct connection between McNear's slaying and his appearance before this committee." He said Kearns' "startling disclosure" emphasizes it.

Even before Hartley's letter, the Justice Department said it was studying the McNear case.

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP)—The Senate tonight confirmed Herman B. Baruch, New York, as ambassador to the Netherlands.

Fears Of War With Russians Are Expressed

Vandenberg Stands Behind President

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP)—In a historic turning point of American foreign policy, President Truman called on the nation today to devote money, materials and military skill to halt the world march of Communism.

Addressing a joint session of Congress, the President specifically requested $400,000,000 to aid Greece and Turkey, hard-pressed Mediterranean bulwarks against the totalitarian tide.

A great, heart-searching debate began immediately on Capitol Hill. Some Congress members expressed fear of eventual war with Russia, others spoke sadly of the blow to attempts at domestic economy.

But from influential Sen. Vandenberg (R-Mich.), presiding officer of the Senate and chairman of its Foreign Relations Committee, came this statement:

"We cannot fail to back up the President at such an hour—even though many critical details remain to be settled in consultation with Congress."

Acheson To Give Details

Vandenberg called a session of the Foreign Relations Committee for tomorrow to hear Dean Acheson, Acting Secretary of State, on details of the President's program.

In response to reporters queries as to how soon a congressional decision might be expected, Vandenberg said Congress should be able "to do what the President wants by March 31."

But he called for the development of a "total policy" which would avoid imperialism, "primarily consult American welfare" and "keep faith with the pledges to the Charter of the United Nations."

"It is very essential," he said, "that our foreign policy be put in gear all around the world so that it achieves the same results everywhere."

In later afternoon a group of Republicans on the House Foreign Affairs Committee went into a private conference. Asked what they discussed they said:

"The general world situation."

Budget Plans "Knocked Askew"

Word that budget plans had been "knocked askew" by the President's program came from Sen. Bridges (R-NH), chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee. He said the new $400,000,000 request would have to be taken into consideration by legislators trying to cut Mr. Truman's $37,500,000,000 budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The development threw a further hurdle in the path of the drive, being pushed by some Republicans, for a 20 per cent cut in income taxes.

Mr. Truman, in his speech, served notice that he would not hesitate to ask for more than $400,000,000, if necessary "to help free peoples to maintain their free institutions and their national integrity against aggressive movements that seek to impose upon them totalitarian regimes."

He said:

"If we falter our leadership, we may endanger the peace of the world—and we shall surely endanger the welfare of our own nation."

Before his taut-faced, tense and anxious audience, he laid a request for:

1. Permission to spend $400,000,000 in Greece and Turkey for the period ending June 30, 1948.

2. The right to send civilian personnel and military men to the two countries to assist in reconstruction and to supervise use of the aid.

3. Legislation giving the administration scope in making the "speediest and most effective use" of the funds in terms of "needed commodities, supplies and equipment."

Would Train Greeks, Turks

4. Authority to provide for the instruction and training of "selected" Greek and Turkish personnel. In the absence of more specific information, this could mean military training in the United States such

President Flies To Key West, Fla., For Vacation On Physician's Orders

KEY WEST, Fla., March 12—(AP)—President Truman, tired and in need of a brief rest, flew here tonight from one of the gravest speeches of his career to bask in the sunshine of the Navy submarine base.

His physician, Brig. Gen. Wallace H. Graham, prescribed four days of walking, swimming and sunbathing to put the 62-year-old Chief Executive in trim for the days ahead which may see United States foreign policy put to its most critical test.

The White House plane, the so-called "Sacred Cow" taxied to a landing at 6:55 p. m. (EST) at the Navy's Boca Chica Air Base five miles distant.

Only a few hours before, the solemn, gray-haired executive had told a joint session of Congress Turkey and Greece will need financial and economic aid to halt a spread of Communist control and subjugation by totalitarian nations in the pressure zones of Europe.

Before his arrival, the Navy set up a system for direct and rapid communication with the White House or State Department spokesmen the world over.

Far from the Washington scene, he could find more time to measure reaction to his address, both at home and in foreign capitals, particularly Moscow.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

Swoon Boy

This column, which falls asleep on its feet now and then, didn't become conscious until about a month ago of a person named Andy Russell, a singer who has been burning up the bobbysox set. Then a missive arrived urging "Radio In Review" to become a member of the Russell Sprouts, an Andy Russell fan club of impressive proportions. Enclosed was a booklet entitled "Simpatico Andy," which means—and I quote—"Andy's sharp yummy out of this world nothing in comparison with." Well, that's what the booklet said.

John Crosby

Among other things in this pamphlet was a "Closeup On Our Swoon Boy" which contained the information that Andy was twenty-six years old, he preferred a shower to a bath because he didn't like to linger in the tub and he knows how to prepare enchiladas. Further along was the "Poet's Corner," the poetry, of course, being devoted exclusively to a single subject:

"Your voice does something to my brain.

"I guess you think I'm a dizzy dame," sang one girl.

Another, heartbroken because Andy moved to Hollywood, wrote:

"My heart cries out: 'Oh, bring him back,

"'My life is dark. I'm dead inside.'"

Clearly, anyone who inspired such devotion deserved investigation. I caught up with Mr. Russell on "Duffy's Tavern" where he appeared as guest star. Ed (Archie) Gardner's opening went like this: "Hello, Duffy's Tavern where the elite meet to eat. Duffy ain't here. Oh, hello, Duffy . . . Yeah, Andy Russell is coming over and the place is crawling with dames." Right here the dames tested their lungs with a low, preliminary squeal. There hearts clearly weren't in it.

"No, the guy can't sing," continued Archie. A long, distressed o-o--o o-oh came from the audience which sounded as if it were almost entirely composed of sixteen-year-olds. "He's a crooner," shouted Arch, whose timing was thrown off badly by this yelping. This brought forth another o-o-o-oh, this time with a rising inflection, denoting, I assume, a certain amount of interest and at least tentative approval.

"What's the difference between a singer and crooner?" yelled Arch, doggedly finishing the gag, although the point had largely been lost. "Only about a thousand bucks a week."

Ee-ee-ee-eeh," went the audience, a sound somewhat like the smoke travelling further in a Raleigh 903, only louder and with more timbre.

"What is there about this guy Andy Russell which makes you dames act like fruitcake?" inquired Arch, irritably I thought.

Just then young Mr. Russell blew in. The wail that greeted him started as an "oh," picked up "ee" somewhere and almost broke my loudspeaker which isn't equipped to handle anything over high C. This was nothing compared to the screech that went up after Mr. Russell finished singing "I'll Close My Eyes." If there is a bobbysox set in banshee circles, that is the sort of noise they probably make, and I bet it drives the older banshees wild.

There is considerable doubt in my mind whether Andy Russell is a proper guest performer for "Duffy's Tavern" or indeed for any comedy program. For one thing, the girls don't appear to have mastered the art of laughter. The girls put their seal of approval on the jokes by a series of squeals, which had the effect of choking off any laughter the listener felt welling up in him. The pause between the joke and any response at all was rather longer than usual, as if the girls were not entirely sure what reaction is expected in the case of non-singing entertainment. All in all, it was a weird but interesting experiment by that old scientist Ed Gardner but I don't think it ought to be repeated very often.

Mr. Russell, in case you never heard him, sings like Frank Sinatra but not quite so ably. He hasn't yet mastered Frankie's celebrated glissando but he's trying hard. However, like Frankie, he sounds unrequitted, which is one of the characteristics of all those singing idols. The more girls they have swooning at their feet the more love beats them over the head. Anyway, it's a nice, silky voice but distinctly an imitation.

Russell's regular beat is "The Hit Parade," that hardy perennial of the air waves. The squealing is less noticeable over there as if the bobbysoxers were admitted in only limited quantities. Incidentally "The Hit Parade" is in the process of shedding its old, tired skin and emerging in shiny, streamlined raiment. That familiar musical style—fast, loud, and on the beam—is gradually, very gradually, being discarded in favor of a slower beat, muted brass and an emphasis on pretty chords rather than the bass drum.

It still opens, panting and heaving, as if the ringmaster were about to introduce the greatest high wire act in history. Then unaccountably it slows down, shamefaced at its lack of dignity, and presently some very civilized sounds are made both by the orchestra and the singers, including Mr. Russell. "The Hit Parade" is now on C. B. S. at 9 p. m. E. S. T. Saturdays but starting April 26 it will move over to NBC where it will be heard at 8 p. m. E. S. T. Saturdays.

Gas Company Given Right To Refuse Supply Of Fuel

According to an announcement, certain privileges have been granted the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company by the Public Service Commission of Maryland which will permit greater control over gas to be supplied to households and others who want to convert to gas heating of premises in Allegany County.

Under the new regulations the gas company may refuse to supply gas for any equipment designed to furnish the principal source of space heating for any premises unless that equipment was installed before the deadline yesterday, or unless application for such heating load was registered with the company prior to the connection with such equipment and approval was given by the company. In other words those having burners installed in furnaces must first learn from the gas company whether gas can be made available to them.

Therefore, no applications for gas service to principal heating equipment for any building, whether residential, commercial, industrial or public, can be approved from this time on except those which come under priorities of medical hardship, which must be supported by filing of satisfactory evidence; and newly constructed premises with heating equipment designed exclusively for gas fuel.

As pointed out by the gas company, the increase in the use of natural gas for heating has been extremely rapid since the removal of government wartime restrictions. With the removal of those restrictions and with the rapid advance in price of coal many persons in Allegany County converted to gas during the present Winter. The gas company made many of those installations—some on medical priority—as fast as equipment became available. But there were many who purchased furnace gas burners from independent dealers and had them installed. The gas company's first knowledge of it would be when called upon to supply gas, and until the new regulations were granted the gas company by the Public Service Commission the servicing of those heating units could not be denied.

This all seems to be a reasonable procedure to protect those who long ago converted to gas for heating homes, clubs and other types of buildings. It may be assumed that the gas company, which is in business to make money, would refuse service only if, or where, their lines already are overloaded. If pipeline expansion projects can be carried out as planned by the gas company it goes without saying that few customers will be turned down, but until that phase of delivery of gas is completed those who contemplate changing over from coal to gas for heating will be running a risk of securing gas service should they have equipment installed without first assuring themselves that they can be furnished.

Facts On Communism Throughout The World

Charts exhibited at the British Empire communist congress at London offered some apparently authentic information on the extent of the communist movement throughout the world. At any rate, this communist picture of communism is interesting and thought-provoking.

In sixty-seven countries, according to these charts, there are communist parties or political organizations that are actually communist even though they use other names. It is clear that communism is active in some form or other in practically every country of any importance on the face of the globe.

The total membership of communist parties in the 57 countries sending reports, the charts indicate, is 18,500,000. Russia has the greatest number of communists, 6,000,000. Italy comes next with 2,000,000. China has 2,000,000 and France 1,200,000. The number of American communists is stated to be 74,000 and Britain has 43,000, which is 10,000 fewer than the figure given when the congress last met.

These figures bring home the fact that communists everywhere, even in Russia, form comparatively small and exclusive political groups. There are as many Democrats in New York State, for example, as there are communists in all the Soviet republics ruled by Moscow. There are many more Republicans in this country than there are communists in all the 57 countries represented on the charts.

Nowhere, it can be stated on the authority of these communist figures, do communists constitute a true people's movement. Even in France, where a third of the electorate supports the communist program, they are a small majority and deliberately remain so because their purpose is to keep all power, once they have won it, in their own hands—by any means that will serve that end.

The Unhappy Investor

Failure of security prices to respond more vigorously to the Supreme Court's decision upholding the conviction of John L. Lewis and his miners, followed by the sharp decline over foreign "developments," is disconcerting to the financial community.

In the past the market would have risen sharply on news such as the Lewis case decision. This time it merely rose feebly and then fell back again. Several brokers commented that investors seem to be bewildered and confused.

If the average investor is bewildered, that should not be surprising. He is face to face with a maze of economic complexities almost beyond parallel and on which no two experts seem able to agree.

The man who tries to figure out the financial future finds himself on shifting and shaky ground. The one thing about which he can be fairly sure is that there are no solid certainties any more. He is beset by predictions of inflation and recession, of falling prices and rising prices, of labor troubles and labor peace.

On top of a horde of domestic perplexities there is the foreign news with all its alarming and contradictory shifts, which has a depressing influence on market trading.

The average American investor is suffering from ...e fatigue. He has had so many predictions ...ired at him, he has strained so hard to identify the prevailing trend out of dozens of cross currents that he is numb with shock. He doesn't know what to buy, what to sell, or which way to turn, and when a man is in that unhappy plight neither good news nor bad can stir him very much.

The Greeks, it seems, now have two words for it: American gold.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

PLEURODYNIA, A PAINFUL EPISODE

FROM time to time in communities or institutions, a peculiar epidemic appears in which the chief complaints are fever and chest pain. In America, the condition is called "pleurodynia" and several such outbreaks have been described in medical journals. It is not new having first been encountered in 1872. Apparently the disorder is a regular visitor among the inhabitants of the tiny island of Bornholm, off the cost of Denmark. As a result, on the European continent it is known as "Bornholm disease."

The infection is likely to attack suddenly and the majority of victims can remember the exact hour at which the symptoms struck. A sharp, knifelike pain develops which originates in the "pit of the stomach" and radiates in all directions, especially thruout the lower chest. As a rule, it comes and goes and may produce a smothering sensation or a feeling "as if the breath had been cut off." In addition, the muscles in this region become overly sensitive and tender to the touch.

The ailment is associated with a rise in temperature and generalized aching. Many have a splitting frontal headache which is aggravated by moving the head. Hence they prefer to lie absolutely still. The eyes are bothered by light [photophobia]. Others are dizzy and experience numbness, tingling, and prickling sensations in the extremities.

The thermometer reading may go up to 103 degrees F. within the first 12 hours of the illness. Then it falls to normal and remains so for the next 12 to 24 hours. During this interval, distress subsides but weakness persists and the victim remains quietly in bed. Without warning, fever returns and pain goes on a rampage. After 12 or more hours the manifestations disappear, only to recur. For 10 days to two weeks the pattern repeats itself before vanishing completely.

No one has ever died of pleurodynia but the malady remains one of the mysteries of medicine. Since it occurs in epidemics and among individuals in the same neighborhood, it is obviously an infection but whether the culprit is a bacteria, virus, or parasite is difficult to say. It seems to arise in communities where the weather is warm and moist and affects children as well as young adults.

In youngsters, abdominal discomfort may extend into the lower right side and be mistaken for appendicitis. In some instances, when the nervous symptoms predominate, with soreness of the extremities and severe headache, polio is suspected. Others are so drowsy that encephalitis [sleeping sickness] is considered.

There is no specific medicine to prevent the disease nor shorten its course. Analgestic drugs help to alleviate distress. These include salicylates and occasionally opiates. Rest is promoted by giving sedatives and, since light hurts the eyes, the shades should be drawn; milder forms may get along well by wearing dark glasses. An ice cap minimizes headache and now and then the chest must be strapped to keep aching under control.

DIETING IN ULCER

F. C. writes: How long is a patient kept on a peptic ulcer diet before operation is recommended?

REPLY

There is no definite time. If symptoms are still severe after being treated adequately and under ideal conditions for 6 weeks, surgery may be required.

STUFFED EARS

A. F. writes: What causes the ears to stop? I cannot hear when this happens and after a day or so it goes away.

REPLY

Obstruction of the Eustachian tubes, which lead from the back of the throat to the ears. Infection, particularly from adenoid tissue near the entrance, is a common cause.

PREGNANCY AFTER NEPHRITIS

Mrs. F. L. writes: Is it safe for a woman who has had nephritis to have a child?

REPLY

Much depends on the severity of the original attack. In general, pregnancy should be avoided because it may aggravate the kidney condition or complicate confinement.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

The federal authorities have just disposed of the equipment from Tony Cornero's confiscated gambling ship by dumping all of it into the Pacific Ocean. That may be very well for all of us, but what about the bad habit it's likely to give the fish?

From what I hear now they've set up a $2 minimum in Davy Jones' locker. There are plenty of card games going on too. They even have a swordfish to cut the deck.

One octopus got into a big poker game. He held all ace hands himself.

They did have a little trouble once, they caught a shark dealing from the bottom of the ocean.

Fish usually travel in schools. If they should happen to catch any of the young ones gambling, they make them travel in reform schools.

Yessir, with all this gambling going on at the bottom of the ocean, when you catch a fish now, he'll really be cleaned.

And the gambling must really be catching on with all those denizens of the deep. I went to Santa Anita last week and I saw a Barricuda in line at the $2 window. He wanted to bet a fin.

The news certainly has gotten around about all the slot machines being dumped into the ocean. I saw a guy fishing yesterday using a nickle for bait—he was trying to hit the jackpot.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Teachers Paid Less Than Charwomen And Janitors In Many Cities; GOP Leaders Rate Labor Problems Over Youth Education; J. Edgar Hoover Has Stories

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, March 12.—School teachers have gone on strike in Buffalo, St. Paul, and several other cities, with other strikes brewing elsewhere. But for more than two months the new Congress has failed even to consider the fact that janitors and charwomen in many cities are paid more than the teachers responsible for training the next generation for an atomic age.

Several bills providing federal funds to increase teachers' salaries have been introduced—perhaps the best and simplest being that of Vermont's outstanding GOP Senator George Aiken. Others have been written by Democrats Green and McGrath of Rhode Island and McCarran of Nevada, and Republican Taft of Ohio. On the House side Democrat Pace of Georgia and Republican Welch of California have entered bills, in addition to a drop-in-the-bucket bill by Representative Sterling Cole of New York.

But the GOP leadership apparently thinks that the labor situation—even though we have no major strikes—is more an emergency than insuring the uninterrupted education of the nation's children.

In both the House and the Senate, education and labor legislation are handled by the same committees, and the two chairmen—Taft of Ohio and Hatley of New Jersey—have not bestirred themselves about education, even though Taft does have his name on two bills relating to the matter.

It was not until last week that Taft appointed Aiken chairman of a subcommittee to handle education. But because the full committee is heading into weeks of wrangling over labor laws, Aiken probably can't schedule hearings before April. A subcommittee has been appointed on the House side, but no hearings are scheduled.

Mississippi Vs. New York Teachers

Never before has the Federal Government made a regular appropriation for educational expenses. However, Senator Aiken points out that 60 per cent of all Americans today are living in states other than those in which they were educated, proving that education is an interstate, or national problem.

Aiken further points out that educational standards vary so widely that in Mississippi the average expenditure per pupil per year in 1944 was only $42.25, while the average in New York State was $185.12. His bill would insure expenditure of at least $100 per pupil per year in each state.

Chief opposition to such a bill is from Southern Senators who fear it might require their states to spend "too much" on Negro schools. For the bill specifies that the $100 average for each pupil must be maintained for each school district.

Sometime this month Aiken's Committee on Expenditures in the Executive Departments will get to work on a bill by Taft and Senator Fulbright of Arkansas calling for establishment of a new Cabinet post—Secretary of Health, Welfare and Education. While Aiken is anxious to proceed with this bill, he is more anxious to see increased teachers' salaries. This he regards as emergency legislation.

Memo From the White House

The following memo has been received from a friend at the White House:

"The President and Charley Ross are irritated at Pearson because of Cabinet meeting leaks and publication of information given out by White House visitors.

"Ross thinks the latter type of leak is being piped to the Merry-Go-Round by someone inside the White House. He is making frantic attempts to track the culprit down. One of the worst annoyances to Ross is the publication of comments made by such popular visitors as Sam Rayburn. When Rayburn comes out of the President's office aglow after a couple of hookers of bourbon, he always has a few background thoughts to offer. Unfortunately Ross can't muzzle Rayburn.

"The leak from Cabinet meetings is even more irritating, but Ross can't do anything about it. Some weeks ago Pete Brandt claimed in a St. Louis Post-Dispatch 'prestige page' Sunday piece that a certain keyholer — Pearson — hadn't been able to get a scoop at the White House in two months as a result of Ross' stringent secrecy policies. The 'keyholer' thereupon came through with an account of a Cabinet meeting in which Forrestal complained that confidential information was being generously handed out to the Merry-Go-Round. Forrestal was not only quoted indirectly by Pearson about this complaint, but also pictured as 'King Sieve,' because of his propensity for planting dope that he wants to see in the papers.

"White House reporters think that Ross, as press secretary, 'is the biggest bust yet.'"

Merry-Go-Round

J. Henry Hoover has locked in FBI files several sensational stories on big-city corruption, showing how certain city bosses are tied up with crime. Unfortunately, this is beyond Hoover's bailiwick, so he proposed a sensational educational movie to 20th Century-Fox based on his files. Cautious 20th-Fox turned him down .... On the day Democratic leaders heard the Gallup poll showed the Democrats 51 per cent against the Republicans' 49, Democratic headquarters staged an old-fashioned celebration. It was a humdinger .... The Supreme Court may bring about labor peace. Just before the Supreme Court's decision, John L. Lewis had forced A. F. of L. leaders to reject CIO offers of legislative unity. The CIO proposed that the two big labor groupts at least get together on bills before Congress, but Lewis said no. Now that the Supreme Court has slapped him down, however, A. F. of L. leaders hope he will change his mind .... Limitations On Unionizing Of Foremen Held A Possibility

By MARK SULLIVAN

The Supreme Court last Monday decided that when foremen in a plant organize a union, the employer must recognize that union and bargain with it, the same as with any other union of other workers. (As provided by the National Labor Relations Act, often called the "Wagner Act.")

It was an extremely important decision. In the words of Mr. Justice Douglas, "it involves a fundamental change in much of the thinking of the nation on our industrial problems."

The facts of the case are simple. The foremen of the Packard Motor Company in Detroit formed a union to represent them in dealing with the company. The union went to the National Labor Relations Board at Washington and asked to be certified as the bargaining representive of the Packard foremen. In doing this they followed the same procedure that any group of employees would follow under the Wagner Act.

Held Foremen Part of Management

NLRB recognized the union. The Packard Company, however, declined to bargain with this sort of union. It said the formen were not "employees" in the sense in which the Wagner Act uses that world, it said that foremen are a part of management. In later proceedings the Packard Company spoke of foremen as "the front-line of management, carrying out management policy."

NLRB ordered the Packard Company to "cease and desist" from its refusal to bargain with the foremen's union. From this order the Packard Company appealed to the courts. In due course, the case arrived before the Supreme Court in January of this year.

This week the Court, in a 5 to 4 decision, upheld NLRB, saying in effect that foremen are to be treated like any other employees. The question before the Court was in effect whether the word "employee" in the Wagner Act includes foremen. The majority opinion, by Mr. Justice Jackson, says it does. The dissenting opinion, by Mr. Justice Douglas, said it does not. Both disavowed deciding whether or not the unionizing of foremen is good public policy. Both said that the matter of policy is for Congress to decide, not the Court.

This puts the question up to Congress, and Congress was already in a mood to act on it. Proposals to remove foremen from the workings of the Wagner Act are included in the labor legislation upon which Congress is about to act.

As to the policy of unionizing foremen, Mr. Justice Jackson, in the majority opinion this week, while not deciding on it, seemed to imply an opinion. He said: "It is also urged upon us most seriously that unionization for foremen is from many points of view bad industrial policy, that it puts the union foremen in the position of serving two masters, dividing his loyalty, and makes generally for bad relations between management and labor." But the Justice added: "However we might appraise the force of these arguments as a policy matter, we are not authorized to base decision of the question of law upon them."

Tends to Obliterate Line

In the dissenting opinion Mr. Justice Douglas said that the unionizing of foremen "at least tends to obliterate the line between management and labor."

Far reaching as the present decision in the Packard case is, another case soon to come before the Supreme Court goes further. In the Packard case the union of foremen is an independent one; one limited to foremen only. But in the Jones and Laughlin case, soon to come before the Court, the union of foremen is an affiliate of Mr. John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers. If the Court should decide that foremen can join a union affiliated with one of the large national unions or the rank and file of workers, and thereby be subject to the same discipline on an industry-wide basis as that of Mr. Lewis' UMW, that would indeed be a fundamental change in our industrial system.

However, the answer to both cases and to the whole problem is that Congress, in the labor legislation it is about to pass, will undoubtedly include limitations upon the unionizing of foremen, perhaps forbid it entirely.

Showdown Being Forced Upon United States In World Crisis

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, March 12—Little by little a showdown is being forced upon the Congress and the people of the United States—a showdown as to whether steps are to be taken now, at heavy cost in money, to prevent a third world war or whether the United States is to adopt a course of drifting in the hope that the crisis of the moment will blow away of its own accord.

In the background is Russian aggression—as plain to see as it has been ever since V-J Day, but with American wishfully hoping that the Soviets are too exhausted to persist in their march of expansion if the United States should show serious signs of checkmating that march.

It isn't a question of war today or tomorrow—or even a year or two from now. But it is a question of meeting the Communist threat now or letting it take its natural course in engulfing all of Europe.

The Russian purpose may be entirely defensive. There would seem to be no logic in encouraging acts in the Balkan states which could conceivably entangle the United States in a third world war. It must not be forgotton that Russia fears the atomic bomb and American industrial power. To safeguard Russia, it is to be expected that the military strategists of that country would press to encircle Greece and Turkey and reach into the Mediterranean on the South, because it is already apparent to Moscow that Germany cannot be won as an ally and that hence the western limit of Russian influence has already been fixed somewhere in eastern Germany.

Maybe Russia Needs Reassuring

If there is in the mind of the Russians a defensive concept and if all the infiltration into other countries—particularly the encouragement of guerrilla warfare in Greece and Fifth Columns in Belgium, France, England and Italy—merely means that Russia is uneasy about attack from the outside, then surely there ought to be some way to reassure Russia.

Plainly the Moscow conference of foreign ministers affords an opportunity to re-examine the whole world situation. Russia has on previous occasions agreed to withhold her propaganda from other countries. If the western powers could secure such pledges from the Soviet Union now, it would certainly relieve the tension and furnish a basis for peace.

It may well be that the Russians will give their answer after they learn what Congress will do about President Truman's message today. For if Congress is divided and the fight is along the line of that which characterized the period just after World War I, there will be a tendency on the part of the Soviets to continue their expansion in the belief that no force in the world will be interposed against them.

If, on the other hand, America stands firm and united and shows a willingness to bear world responsibility no matter what the cost, then it is conceivable that Russia will give the necessary assurances and the peace of the world can be left to the United Nations to uphold, as universally planned.

Security Council Stymied

It is to be recalled at this time that the Security Council of the U. N. has made virtually no progress toward setting up an international force to preserve peace and that meetings of the military staffs have been fruitless, largely because Russia has, by one maneuver or another of delay or confusion, kept the Security Council from establishing itself as an instrument for the preservation of the peace.

So what the world is witnessing today is an effort on the part of the biggest democracy in the world to use her power and influence to assist weaker countries, like Greece and Turkey, which stand in the shadow of Russian aggression.

The test is whether a democracy can function in a situation that is not clear enough to arouse public opinion. In a totalitarian country where the press is manipulated by the government, there is no concern about public opinion. The Communist government in Moscow knows it can count of division within the United States—a division which will be encouraged by left wingers and Communists inside America who have been playing Russia's game for some time and by isolationists of the right wing who are again thinking in term of dollars that might be saved for tax reduction.

It surely presents a critical decision for America and one that can easily wreck the Republican Party and give the Democrats a chance to continue to govern the country for many years to come.

THESE DAYS

By George E. Sokolsky

FROM isolation to co-operation to participation to imperialism has been the course of American history from 1914 to 1947. It has not been a steady march in any one direction, dissident voices being raised no matter what the accepted policy, but the trend has been clear from Woodrow Wilson to Harry Truman, from William Jennings Bryan to George Marshall.

At the outbreak of the Four-year War (1914-18) these powers more or less controlled the world: Great Britain, France, Russia, Germany, Austria-Hungary, Italy, Holland, and Japan. The United States was an onlooker.

After that war, the world was controlled by Great Britain, the United States, France Holland, Italy, and Japan. Soviet Russia was isolated, in revolution, weak. Germany was an oppressed nation, defeated in war. The Austro-Hungarian Empire had been smashed into splinter nations, each too weak to care for itself, each too strong in its own assumptions to recognize the role of the Danube in European history. China was hopefully emerging into a mighty state, but the might remained embryonic.

At the time of the Washington Conference it was apparent that Great Britain was no longer master of its own house. Australia, New Zealand and Canada forced Great Britain to abrogate the Anglo-Japanese Alliance, the first major step toward the present war. It was also apparent that China would for years be a dependent nation, economically and diplomatically. It was clear that China was in a vise, one side of which was Japan, the other Russia. Great Britain and the United States had the choice of supporting the policy of Japan or Russia. They chose neither. Idealistically, they hoped to limit each of these Powers and to build China's independence quickly. This was an error of historic judgment and was a second step toward the present war.

When the Ethiopian crisis occurred, the Great Powers of the moment, Great Britain, the United States and France, had the choice of supporting Italy's imperialism or supporting Ethiopian independence. If they supported Ethiopian independence, it was essential that Italy be smashed because a defeated but not destroyed imperialist is as dangerous as a wounded tiger. The Great Powers gave Ethiopia slight support, as slight as they had given China in Manchuria, and they also did not smash Italy. That was the third step toward war.

Througout this era, the United States pursued a mixed isolationist—co-operative — participating policy. It proposed the League of Nations but remained out of it; it proposed the Stimson Declaration but did nothing about it; it called the London Economic Conference but torpedoed it. In a word, the leaders were moving in the direction of imperialism but could not carry the American people with them.

Franklin D. Roosevelt started his career as a co-operating isolationist, as his Chautauqua speech shows, but by the time of the Quarantine speech he had moved into war. After that speech, Italy and Japan had been forewarned. When war finally came, the United States took it over, financed it, led it, became the controlling country in the Western phase of the Alliance against Germany. But here something happened that the West had not calculated. Soviet Russia emerged as an equal of the United States, as a powerful, independent imperialist state.

Out of this war arose only two mighty Powers, the United States and Soviet Russia. Great Britain, France, Germany, Italy, and Japan had been reduced to minor roles because, either as defeated or victorious nations, they had become dependents, economically, politically and diplomatically.

Soviet Russia has recognized historic inevitability and is prepared to take over mastery of a complex of satellites, puppets and allies and to maintain peace by force and coercion. The United States, on the other hand, has sought to raise fallen nations to independence by financial assistance.

The fall of Great Britain has, however, forced upon the United States a decision which it is ill-prepared and unready to make. That decision is: Shall the United States assume responsibility for maintaining the remnants of the British Empre? That means American Imperialism—but on what terms? And that may—probably does mean an eventual war with Soviet Russia. For what?

Decisions

Decisions are the mileposts to either success or failure. We do nothing more important in life than making decisions. There is finality to so many of them, like those that the grave judges of our highest Conrt make.

The youth decides upon a certain vocation or profession—and from there on his final success depends upon more decisions—all along the way. If they are made wisely, and decisively, he will be both happy and fortunate. Nothing is so destructive to character as indecision—or when you have made a certain decision to back out of it later. It is much better to stumble forward than to stumble backward. If you do the former you are in a better position to get up, with less loss of time, and get on your way again!

All of us make bad decisions, as well as good ones: The good ones, however, are what carry us on. But when a good decision is made, it should be given legs, fibre, and muscle strength. It should stand, for its becomes the evidence of character that created it.

It isn't easy to stick to a good decision. Often it causes heartache, the loss of once valued companionship, and perhaps many a material loss. But the cost is worth it. It buys greatness, and often immortality!

It was decision, on the part of a few inspired Colonists, that gave to the United States its independence and behind her decisions today, may well depend the hope and happiness, as well as the prosperity and security, of all the rest of the world. Within the frame-work of the United Nations lie possibilities of achievement for which centuries have awaited through travail, suffering enslavement, and patient expectation.

It was the Apostle Paul who said: "This one thing I do." From a right and honest decision there should be no turning back. Happiness is largely a matter of decision. There are people whom I have met who seem to get pleasure, or satisfaction, out of being miserable. But there are more of us who decide to work the sunny side.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

I got a swift kick in the ego yesterday.

"Major Timothy Morgan is here to see you," said the girl at the switchboard.

"Send the old swindler in," I told her, and locked the silver ash trays in my desk.

Billy Rose

As the midway mountebank walked in, I got the whiff of hotdogs frying on a griddle and heard a calliope playing.

The Major set down a little black satchel and fixed me with the Hypnotic Eye.

"The Midway is teeming with humanity," he boomed. "You hear the tinkle of a merry-go-round and the girls screaming on the loop-the-loop. In the midst of this mass of happy people, what do you see?"

"Yes," I snapped. "Take your hand out of that man's pocket!"

The Major didn't hear me. "There's a big sign on a small tent," he went on. "It spells out 'AMY — BORN WITHOUT ARMS OR LEGS!' From inside the tent comes a roar like the earth in agony. In front is a platform with a hand-operated water pump — something like a railway handcar. Two ebony-skinned giants, bared to the waist, are pumping water into the tent. You can hear it splashing inside.

"Every few seconds, a wild-eyed man dashes out of the tent and hollers, 'WATER! MORE WATER FOR AMY!'

"Next to the ticket booth, dressed in dignified grey, stands your 'umble servant. 'AMY!' I cry to the wonderstruck multitude. 'BORN WITHOUT ARMS OR LEGS!'

"As the citizens fight to slide their quarters through the ticket window, the roar from the tent swells like thunder in the mountains. My wild-eyed assistant is desperate. 'WATER!' he pleads. 'MORE WATER FOR AMY!'"

The Major let go of my coat lapels and sat down. I put my hand on the desk lamp to stop it from vibrating. I noted none of the window glass was broken.

"It's a beautiful picture," I remarked. "But where do I fit in?"

"A hundred dollars buys you a fifty per cent interest in the greatest attraction since the Grand Canyon!"

I don't impress easy, but I was impressed. I asked one cautious question. "Who's going to sell you a freak like Amy for a hundred dollars?"

"The hundred isn't for Amy," the Major assured me. "I've got Amy. The hundred's for the tent, the pump, the roar-effect machine and the water tank in which Amy lives."

"This Amy," I queried, "was she really born without arms?"

"Definitely," said the Major.

"Without legs?"

"You have my word," smiled the old confidence man.

"What in the name of the Five Ringling Brothers is Amy?" I asked.

Major Timothy Morgan opened the black satchel and put Amy on my desk.

It was a water snake!

From the top of the piano, I watched it slither around my inkwell. "Major Morgan," I panted, "you're a great man. You'll be ten dollars richer when that slimy monster is back in the satchel."

I ushered him out of my office with sincere and deep respect. I brooded for the rest of the afternoon, "You fancy yourself a showman!" I mumbled.

The next time the boys at Toots Shor's sound off about Barnum, Ringling and Reinhardt, they're going to hear from Little Willie. From here in, no such conversation is complete without a bow to the inspired loony who thought up AMY —BORN WITHOUT ARMS OR LEGS!

Fort Hill Seniors To Give Mystery Play Friday

Dolores Chase, who starred in the annual one act play tournament, does the characterization of the mystery women; and Eugene Roberson as the weird and terrifying "Zombie", completes the cast.

Well known in dramatic circles in Cumberland, Miss Cumbee has two other stage hits to her credit at Fort Hill, "Arizona" and "Murder Mansion." She received her degree in dramatics at Southern College, and took additional work at Emory University and Ithaca Conservatory, N. Y.

Security Council Delays Decision On Pacific Isles

New Zealand, India Ask To Be Heard

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., March 12 (AP) — The United Nations Security Council delayed a decision on the Japanese-mandated islands in the Pacific today after New Zealand and India came forward with surprise requests to be heard in debate.

The appeals were approved quickly and resumption of discussion was set for next Monday. At that time Canada, the Netherlands and the Philippines, other members of the Far Eastern Commission not sitting on the council, also will be given the opportunity to speak.

Requests for extended hearings came just as it appeared the council was ready to approve an American proposal to take over the Marshall, Caroline and Marianas chains in a "strategic area" trusteeship under soles United States administration.

Terms of the agreement provide authority to close the islands at will for security reasons, ban foreign aircraft and erect fortifications, and in general almost amount to annexation.

"The New Zealand government consider that the disposition made for these islands is an essential part of any plan for the control of Japan and the peace settlement with that country," Prime Minister Peter Fraser said in a note. "It is therefore a matter of interest to those states who took an active part in the war against Japan."

Paul Hasluck, of Australia, then proposed an amendment which would make any council decision subject to confirmation by the powers at war with Japan.

Warren R. Austin, United States delegate, said that his government did not agree with some of the statements in Fraser's note and indicated he would speak more fully later. He rejected Australia's confirmation suggestion.

Balkan Probers Denied Entry Into Yugoslavia

ATHENS, March 12—(AP)—A report from Phlorina in Northern Greece to the press office said today that Yugoslav authorities had refused entry into Yugoslav territory of an investigating team of the United Nations Balkan Inquiry Commission on the grounds that they had received no instructions from their government.

The team was to visit the village of Draga about a mile inside Yugoslav territory. This village has been described as a center from which Guerrillas raid Greece.

Fears Of War

as was provided during the war for British aviators.

The nation's lawmakers, as they followed the President's words, reflected his grave mood. Only thrice did they punctuate the address with applause—once when he served notice that the aid must be "supervised," again when he lashed out at "totalitarian regimes," a third when he said the alternative to direct aid "is much more serious."

The immediate reaction of the members of Congress can be spelled out in few words—anxious but serious. They pondered the impact of his requests upon their long cherished hopes for peacetime economies, tax cuts and debt reductions.

Sen. Wherry, of Nebraska, assistant Republican leader, said the speech was "a virtual declaration of war on totalitarian forces" but added "I don't know that there is any alternative."

Martin's Statement

Republican Speaker Martin, of Massachusetts: "The recommendation of the President calls for a radical departure from our traditional American foreign policy. There is no question but what the report calls for heavier burdens upon the American people and raises new problems of far-reaching import which will affect the future of America and the world. The request must be examined with great care and deliberation by the Congress."

House Democratic Leader Rayburn, of Texas: "I think the President's reasoning is unanswerable. I think we must do this if we are to maintain a democratic peace in the world."

Sen. Pepper (D-Fla.), saying the United States should not take such a "grave step" alone, called for an emergency meeting of the United Nations. Mr. Truman, in his speech, said the United Nations is not in a position to extend emergency help of the kind required.

Less than an hour after the President stepped from the House rostrum, Chairman Eaton (R-NJ) called a meeting of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

White House aides were reported to have drafted bills breaking down the $400,000,000 requests into two sums—$250,000,000 for Greece and the balance for Turkey.

The unemployment compensation bill passed in the Senate, among other things would set up a new method of figuring weekly benefits. It also would fix new weekly rates ranging from $6 to $25.

One provision is that a person to qualify for jobless pay must be "actively seeking work."

An applicant would be disqualified for any week in which his unemployment is due to discharge for a dishonest or criminal act in connection with his work.

Disqualification also would be decreed for any week in which unemployment is due to leaving work voluntarily without good cause, or in any week in which discharge or suspension occurs as a disciplinary measure.

Three votes were cast against the bill by Sens. Ellison (R-Balto 4th), Kimble (R-Allegany) and Della (D-Balto 6th).

The death of the declarations of intentions repealer came through a tactical and technical "clincher" move which laid the bill on the table and then reconsidering the vote of tabling—thereby making certain the same subject matter may not be considered again before adjournment of the 1947 Assembly.

The vote was 53 to 47.

Girl, 9, Is Latest Victim In Series Of Sex Slayings

Beaten To Death Near Fresno, Calif.

FRESNO, Calif., March 12 (AP)—A little girl was found dead today, another victim of fiendish lust.

Police said a sex maniac had abducted her on her way to school. Her head was crushed, her clothing ripped away, and, in the words of Undersheriff John Ford, she was "horribly mutilated."

The body of Esther Lee Lewis, 9, was found beside a dry creek near her home in nearby Sanger.

Esther was the youngest of the victims of a wave of sadistic slayings in California in the past 60 days. In Los Angeles, alone, four women have met death, supposedly at the hands of perverts, in the last two months. The most brutal, the mutilation and bisecting of Elizabeth (the Dahlia) Short, remains unsolved.

Police said little Esther apparently was abducted as she walked the mile from her home to a school bus stop yesterday morning. The creek where the body was found lies about half way to the stop.

Harold Emmick, chief criminal deputy sheriff, said pictures of semi-nude women, cut from magazines, were found scattered in the vicinity of the body.

Not until yesterday evening, after Esther failed to return home, did her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Lewis, learn that she had not attended classes that day.

The sheriff ordered an immediate search. The original searching party of 50 grew to 300 during the night. At 8:30 a. m. today Floyd H. Cornelius, 31, Piedra service station operator, discovered the beaten, broken body.

Autopsy Reveals Man Died Of Bullet Wound

WASHINGTON, March 12. (AP)—Frank C. Kelly, 56, a War Department electrician, died last night of a bullet wound which was not discovered until an autopsy ordered by police today after an earlier statement that he had died of natural causes.

Inspector Robert J. Barrett, detective chief, said Kelly may have been murdered or struck by a stray bullet. He was found by two policemen last night lying on the sidewalk near a hospital entrance.

Appropriations Measure Is Sent To White House

Legislation Spells OPA's End By June 30

WASHINGTON, March 12—(AP)—Legislation to close out OPA by June 30 cleared Congress today and only the signature of President Truman is necessary to schedule the end of the wartime rationing and price control agency.

Actually, OPA may cease operations well before June 30, for agency officials claim the slightly more than $14,000,000 finally provided for its liquidation will last at most through April. That sum is all available for operation between now and July 1, for paying off OPA employes, and closing its business.

Final congressional action came when the Senate passed the Senate-house conference report on a deficiency appropriation providing $179,645,668—including OPA's final allotment—and a rider directing OPA to liquidate.

Approval was on a voice vote, but not before Democratic Sens. Pepper, of Florida, and Taylor, of Idaho, protested what they characterized as killing off an agency by indirection—through withholding of funds.

Chairman Bridges (R-NH), of the Appropriations Committee, assured them provision would be made to administer through another government agency whatever form of rent controls Congress may adopt.

Sugar and rice controls may be transferred to the Agriculture Department under legislation pending before congressional committees now.

Bridges asserted the $14,000,000 should be enough to last OPA through June 30.

Going out of business along with OPA will be the Civilian Production Administration, the Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion and the Office of Temporary Controls.

Chinese Reds Moving Back Toward Changchun

chairman of the railroad brotherhoods' strike committee, went voluntarily to the police to discuss the case. He told reporters he deplores the slaying and that "this would be no way to settle labor relations."

The Kearns-McNear matter overshadowed the House committee's continuing study of proposed new labor laws.

Former Railroad Guard Questioned In Slaying

PEORIA, Ill., March 12—(AP)—A former railroad guard involved in a fatal fracas between strikers and guards last year was detained for questioning today about the assassination of Railroad President George P. McNear, Jr., and police said two possible clues to the slaying had been found.

Roy Daily, 36, of Peoria, who was in charge of a squad of Toledo, Peoria and Western Railroad guards who figured in a bloody clash with strikers at Gridley, Ill., in February, 1946, was taken to the police station and his name entered on the police blotter with the notation "hold for questioning."

Chief of Police Victor Klarich said no charges had been filed against Daily and added he was emphasizing this.

Meanwhile, Chief of Detectives Fred Nussbaum said a man's brown glove and a toe and heel print had been found beside a tree some 75 feet from the spot where McNear, fiery 55-year-old T. P. and W. Railroad president, was killed by a shotgun blast Monday night.

immigrants who had sailed from Italy.

The announcement said all the refugees would be deported to detention camps on Cyprus.

Deny British Repulsed

Palestine officials denied rumors that a British naval party had attempted to board the vessel before it ran ashore but was repulsed by the immigrants. The British also denied that there had been skirmishes between Arabs living in the area and some of the passengers.

The Jerusalem blast, which punched open the wall of an army pay corps barracks in a converted Syrian orphanage was described by British Brig. Edmund F. Davies as just like a "commando" attack.

A communique said a party of "Jewish attackers" stormed the building under cover of heavy machine-gun fire, after blasting a 15-foot hole in a stone wall surrounding the structure. Four explosions rocked the building, ripping out a section of the wall and extensively damaging the barracks.

C. Of C. Fears Era Of Communist-Led Political Strikes

Drive To Oust Reds From Unions Urged

WASHINGTON, March 12 (AP) — The United States Chamber of Commerce said tonight that "we may be in for" an era of Communist-led strikes springing from differences with Russia on foreign policy.

The chamber took this view in a report entitled "Communists Within The Labor Movement." It urged both employers and workers to work toward ousting Communists from union leadership.

"Cleansing of the labor movement of Communism," the report said, "will lead to sounder, more peaceful and more reasonable labor-management relations.

"Furthermore, it will hurt the Communists badly in the fifth column work for the Soviet Union."

The chamber's report was prepared and released before President Truman's speech of today was made public.

The report said American Communists get their directions from Moscow and penetrate labor organizations in waging "a war to the finish with the (American) business community and our way of life."

It said that "possible future events" may make 1946 "shortages, inconveniences and sufferings x x x appear trivial" because:

"If the foreign policies of the United States continue to diverge from those of the Soviet Union, we may be in for an era of thinly-disguised political strikes.

"Strikes of this nature are basically sabotage. They will not be settled in any easy fashion."

Noting that many unions now are fighting down Communists elements within their ranks, the report said that employers should help the anti-Communist blocs all they can without "running afoul of the Wagner Act." It said, however, that the anti-Red job was "mainly a task for the workers themselves."

"No Confidence"

The source did not mention whether the new director would have authority over manpower, but government spokesmen have indicated that the wartime power to divert labor into the most needed industries would be reassumed in order to meet a demand for 800,000 more workers.

Marquis James tells of "ONE OF METROPOLITAN'S GREATEST YEARS—1946"

IN LINE with its long-established "Open Book" policy, Metropolitan recently asked Marquis James, noted historian and a Metropolitan policyholder, to write the Company's Annual Report to Policyholders for 1946.

Mr. James was unusually well equipped to do this because he had just finished, at the request of the Company, a three-year study of Metropolitan's operations from the time it was founded. The results of this study have been published by the Viking Press under the title of "The Metropolitan Life, A Study in Business Growth," on sale at any bookstore.

In Mr. James' report of the Company's operations for 1946, he tells a story of continued progress in service to policyholders.

He points out—

—that payments to policyholders and their beneficiaries last year exceeded $630,000,000.

—that 2,400,000 people bought new Metropolitan policies in 1946.

—that the amount of new insurance purchased in 1946 topped anything in Metropolitan's 79 years in business.

—that the gain in insurance in force set a new high record.

—that the Company had one of the lowest death rates in its history.

—that, despite a trend toward increased costs caused primarily by a continued decline in interest rates earned, the Company has found it possible to continue dividends on Ordinary and Industrial policies during the coming year at the same rates as during 1946.

Mr. James' report is much more than a compilation of statistics. Among other things, he discusses the social value of Metropolitan's investments. For example, he characterizes Metropolitan's housing program as a——"vivid demonstration of how private enterprise works for the public good."

Whether or not you are a Metropolitan policyholder, you will find the Annual Report to Policyholders well worth reading. To get your free copy, just fill in and mail the coupon below.

Living Soil

I get so tired of doing the same old things day after day—don't you?

Washing the same old ears—paring the same old potatoes—getting out the same old copy—powdering the same old nose.

Give me a crisis and I'm superb, right there with the fireworks, organizing maneuvers and dispensing gab, full of vim and vigor—100 per cent alive every minute. But when it comes to living by ordinary day by day rules, I slump. I've lived so many such days I know all about them. There's nothing new, nothing exciting—or so I think.

And sometimes, while I'm griping and grumbling, I remember a day long ago in my teens. I had left the old California which I adored and was primly planted in the heart of Vermont.

As I look back on it now I realize that it was a very beautiful and friendly heart. I could have had quite a grand time if I had known how to go about it. But I didn't think it was beautiful or friendly then and I wanted no part of it. I was homesick as only a displaced Californian could be.

The orderly days seemed so deadly dull after the excitement of my frontier home. The nights were even duller. I spent long sobbing hours of self pity.

Finally, quite frantic with loneliness, I wrote to my mother and asked her to send me a little pot of California soil. Seems funny now, doesn't it? But California was much more than 3,000 miles away from Vermont in those days and for me there was no life outside San Francisco Bay.

So my wise mother sent me the little pot of soil. But being truly wise she had planted within it a little fern and she wrote this note which I shall always remember.

"Here is your piece of California, little girl. It has a fern growing in it but you must remember there's not one inch of California soil in which something is not growing. Perhaps you would find Vermont soil alive too, if you looked closer."

Of course, being an astute woman, mother had as usual hit the nail on the head. My trouble wasn't homesickness. It was simply my own blindness to the ordinary course of life. I was still living in a young girl's dream. I refused to accept the monotony and discipline of the ordinary chores of life.

Sometimes when I grow so bored, going through the same old program day after day, I remember that letter. I remember how she tied up that little pot of soil with the living earth in which something is always growing.

Maybe those common chores which we so despise, that monotony which we would so gladly shake, are like the good earth in which something is always growing. For you can find beauty and wonder and mystery and excitement in even the commonest job if you have the eyes to see them. Just scrubbing the kitchen floor or answering a troubled youngster's letter tie up with all the mystery of life and all the love if you're willing to let them.

Living soil—that's what our common days are, after all, isn't it? The big crises come but seldom and rarely are we given the chance to stand in the spotlight and issue orders. But the common living earth of daily life is always with us. And there is not a second that does not hold some miracle if we have only the eyes to see.

IMPULSE TO FLEE

No man, having put his hand to the plough, and looking back, is fit for the Kingdom of God. Luke 9:62. Read Mark 10:32-34.

Perhaps Jesus went before his bewildered folowers to the city of his execution without feeling the impulse to flee to safety. We cannot know. At all events, the disciples who followed were afraid. We have a felow-feeling for them and can evein forgive them for deserting after the Last Supper, remembering that eventually they disciplined their fears and died the death of martyrs.

Anyone who has faced real danger in war or peace is said to be a fool or a liar if he claims that he was not afraid. Like the disciples, we have fled into dreams, absorption in work or pleasure, or into cynicism. We do not apologize for our failures but find strength in God to discipline the impulse to flee. Finding it, we dare to say that he whose knees have not literally shaken while his heart drove him forward into danger, has something to learn. He will know Jesus better when he has learned it.

Let Us Pray: O Heveanly Father, who didst come to live with us in Jesus, we are grateful that he continues to go before his disciples today. He is our Leader on difficult trails of daily life, Friend in our highest fellowship, Living Presence in the noblest communion, Guide on paths where hope send a shining rayf far down the future's broadening way. Amen.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Girl Who Wants To Meet Stranger Is Advised Not To Write Him Letter

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

The first time I saw him was at a hockey game between a neighboring town and our own. With my first glance at the visiting players, he stood out most of all, and all evening he was the one I watched.

I pointed him out to my companion and she told me she knew him when she lived in the same town that he came from. So now I know his name and address and that he has a good reputation.

We are the same age, and since that game I find myself thinking about him all the time. Should I write to him and tell him about myself and how he interested me that night?

"K. H. S."

Yours is not the first letter I have received asking how it may be possible to meet a perfect stranger, but yours is the first to suggest that you write him a letter and tell him about yourself.

I think that you had better figure out a way to obtain an introduction to him in a more conventional manner than by throwing yourself at his head, so to speak, through the mails. That would be a rather crude thing to do. And while it might gain some temporary attention for you from him, I doubt if it would be the kind that you would care for.

If you have a friend who already knows this boy, why can't you get an introduction to him through her? If she is a good friend of yours, she should be glad to bring this about in some way. Perhaps there will be a return hockey game in his town to which the two of you could go. Then she could find an opportunity to let him know she was there and he would probably come to speak to her and she could introduce you. Or perhaps some time she will be giving a party to which she could invite this boy.

Certainly I would try to meet him through the conventional channels rather than the direct approach you suggest.

Vicious Stepfather

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a girl 19 years old, have been married and have two children. My husband and I are divorced.

I live with my mother and my stepdad and my stepdad is very jealous about me. I can't go out anywhere without asking him, and I do not want to stay with them any longer. He has made improper advances to me and I have told my mother about it, but she won't believe me, and I don't know what to do. I want to work, but I don't want to just get up and walk out without some advice on what I should do.

"T. N. R."

It seems to me that you should lose no time getting up and walking out, if you can make some provision for your children so that you would be free to go to work. I assume that your stepfather is supporting you and your children, and, if you had to do this yourself, it would of course complicate the situation if you tried to set up a home of your own. However, complicated though it might be to work out in the beginning, I feel sure that it would be much more satisfactory in the end if you left your mother's home, where your stepfather tries to take advantage of you, and went as far away from him as possible.

You live near a large city where there should be some social welfare organization to which you could go for advice and guidance. Or perhaps you have a priest or a minister who could help you. I suggest that you try to find someone nearby in whom you could confide and who could help you make definite plans.

FTC Findings List Celanese Tubize Action

WASHINGTON, March 12. (AP)—Armed with official findings that 1,800 firms have vanished by merging into bigger ones since 1940, Rep. Kefauver (D-Tenn), today predicted passage of his bill to tighten the anti-trust laws.

He pointed to a new special report of the Federal Trade Commission, which depicted what FTC called a "sharp upward sweep" in the economic concentration of American industry during and since the war.

The commission said the mergers engulfed firms worth $4,100,000,000 or nearly five per cent of the total asset value of all manufacturing corporations as last reported in 1943.

Simultaneously Rep. Gwynne (R-Iowa), chairman of a House Judiciary subcommittee, set hearings to open March 19 on the Kefauver Bill, with Kefauver himself as first witness. The measure would give FTC power to prevent purchase of a company's physicial assets if the sale would tend to create monopoly. The Clayton Anti-Trust Act now governs only sales of stock.

"It is impossible to prevent monopolistic mergers unless this amendment is passed," Kefauver told a reporter.

"The loopohle should have been plugged long ago. If we are going to protect our free enterprise system we must act quickly."

The FTC report, filed with Congress on Monday but still not printed, showed that 18 of the "very largest corporations"—those with assets above $50,000,000—bought 242 smaller firms from 1940 to 1946 inclusive, or "an average of more than 13 firms apiece."

Celanese Corporation of America, third biggest rayon firm, last month merged with Tubize Rayon, the eighth biggest.

Continental Can Company, second largest in the tin can field, bought out Owens-Illinois Can Company, one of its 13 acquisitions. It also bought producers of fiber containers, paper cups, steel containers and other tin can manufactures.

Celanese To Open Canadian Plant

NEW YORK, March 12 (AP)—Celanese Corporation of America plans to construct a plant in the North East Coastal Area of British Columbia for the production of highly purified cellulose for chemical purposes, Harold Blancke, president, announced today.

Blancke said the plant, to be built on Watson Island, about eight miles Southeast of Prince Rupert, would cost about $15,000,000 and would have a capacity of from 200 to 400 tons per day.

Arrangements have been made with the British Columbia Government, Blancke said, reserving about 15,000 square miles of forest land for use by the Port Edward Cellulose Co., Ltd., a subsidiary of Celanese, to provide a perpetual wood supply.

He said it would be the first instance on the North American Continent in which a government and business combined forces to perpetuate timber resources by scientific management.

New Air Mail Stamps To Be Received Here

Post Office officials here said yesterday that limited supplies of the new smaller 5-cent air mail stamp, which will be the same size as a regular 3-cent stamp, will probably be received here within a few weeks.

The stamps will go on sale March 26 in Washington, D. C. After that time other post offices may requisition supplies only when their stock of the current air mail stamp is reduced to not more than 30 days' supply.

Entertain Supervisors

Mowery Stresses Responsibility Of Parents

By LILLIAN HARDEN CRABTREE

HYNDMAN, Pa., March 12 — William Mowery, Bedford County Superintendent of Schools, was the speaker at the Parent-Teachers Association meeting Tuesday night in Hyndman School auditorium. Mr Mowery stressed the importance of parental responsibility in the upbringing of their children and urged them to make their children feel secure and wanted. He stated that three freedoms were the main factors of the settlement of this country by our ancestors: political freedom, religious freedom and economic freedom. Boil these three down and we have what it known as Americanism.

The entertainment was provided by pupils of the first and second grades who gave an operetta entitled "Going to the Fair" under the direction of Miss Mary Meyers and Mrs. Kenneth Brown.

The meeting was in charge of Mrs. Mary E. Sides, president and devotions were in charge of Rev. John H. Buffenmyer, pastor of the Church of the Brethren. Mrs. Edward A. Shaffer, secretary, read her report and also one from the membership committee which stated that the association has 151 paid members this being probably the largest in its history. It was decided to make a donation to the Red Cross and the officers are to decide the amount to be given.

Prof. Lloyd G. Keller announced that the medical examinations to be given would be started Wednesday in the first grade. The Pennsylvania Medical Association provides for a complete examination of each child in the first, third, fifth, seventh, ninth and eleventh grades. The parents will be notified through their children as to the time of the examinations and parents are requested to be present.

Mrs. Francis Smith led the group in singing with Miss Eloise Headland at the piano.

Everett Is Speaker

M. R. Everett, educational secretary of the Pennsylvania Anti-Saloon League of Western, Pa., spoke Monday night in the Evangelical Church. Mr. Everett, whose home is near Indiana, Pa., was a former minister of the Evangelical Church of the Michigan Conference.

At the close of his lecture, the speaker showed a picture, "It's the Brain That Counts" depicting the evils of alcoholic beverages for youth.

Mr. Everett is spending most of this week in Bedford County where he is visiting high schools and churches. He spoke in the high school here Monday afternoon.

Band To Give Concert

Hyndman High School Band under the direction of J. Elwood Miller will present its spring concert Wednesday and Thursday nights in the school auditorium. The program will be varied, with all musical groups in the school taking part.

Different size bottles have been tuned, and when played will produce the tune, "There's Music in the Air" in three and four part harmony. The auditorium will be in total darkness for this number and the players will use flashlights to flick the light on their bottle as they strike the note.

The Junior Band makes its first appearance and will start playing at 7:40 p. m. and play until 8 p. m. when the regular band concert begins. The Junior Band is made up of grade pupils who are learning to play instruments and ninth and 10th grade pupils still in their first year on their instrument.

The boys and girls mixed chorus is presenting four vocal numbers and there are special instrumental numbers.

Garrett C. and Jury Finds 23 Indictments

Twenty-three indictments, one charging Samuel Haddix, Jr., near Kitzmiller, with the crime of incest, were returned by the Garrett County Grand Jury during its March term, which was discharged Tuesday, Sheriff J. S. Teter said last night.

The majority of the indictments were returned against persons charged with breaking and entering and one is a paternity charge, the sheriff stated.

Haddix was taken into custody of charges of rape and carnal knowledge, involving at least one of his five daughters, the sheriff said. The children are all by a common-law wife, authorities stated.

A 9-year-old Westernport youth, accused of placing an obstacle on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad track near Bloomington, which nearly wrecked a train, was not mentioned in the indictments, the sheriff said. The youth was ordered held for action of the grand jury after being questioned by State's Attorney Walter Dawson last January.

Liquor Law

the General Assembly of Maryland, that all licenses issued in Allegany County under Chapter Five of the Acts of the Special Session of 1933 for the sale of alcoholic beverages be and they are hereby validated and continued in effect until midnight of April 30th, 1947, as fully as if said Chapter Five had been held to be valid."

Present Act Effective

Chief Judge William A. Huster said last night the Court of Appeals' ruling would not be effective until the mandate is received. He added that the county will operate under the Act of 1933 until that time.

Other than that, he had no comment. Neither did Associate Judge George Henderson.

William C. Walsh and D. Lindley Sloan, attorneys for Jackson, did not disclose whether or not they would file an appeal from the Court of Appeals' decision. Jackson's third attorney, Morgan C. Harris, is out of the city.

Cromwell, represented by Edward J. Ryan, Cumberland and Frostburg, and F. Neal Parke, Westminster, said, "The ruling made clearly shows that this remains a country of free men and that the spirit of free enterprise still exists."

He said he had the support of a "great number" of citizens who had absolutely no interest in liquor licenses in starting this case.

According to the opinion, written by Judge Collins and concurred in by Judges Marbury, Henderson and Grason, the Act of 1894 does not now become operative, although the 1933 act is invalidated, because it is so much in conflict with current general legislation on the subject.

Dissenting judges were Delaplaine and Markall.

In effect present regulations in Allegany County cover only such things as the manufacture of liquor, wholesale distribution of liquor, and regulations concerning railroads and steam boats as provided by the general law.

Application Of Law

The decision pointed out that rules governing the granting of liquor licenses should call for non-judicial decisions and that licenses should be granted by an administrative body rather than a judicial group. The Appeals Court said the court should act upon applications of the law and should not determine such things as whether a man is fit, whether the location is proper or whether there is already a sufficent number of licenses for a certain area.

The court in reviewing the decision said, "We are limited to the question of constitutional power." It added that it was not dealing with expediency or policy and hence could not take into consideration the plea that Allegany County would be without a liquor law.

The court reviewed the law itself and said, "We hold some of the duties imposed on judges of the court are quasi-legislative and since non-judicial, the act as a whole is unconstitutional and invalid despite the severability clause.

In examining the question of the old "saloon law," the court said in declaring the 1933 law invalid, it did not necessarily repeal the 1894 law. Rather, the "saloon law" was invalid in the county because the present or existing general law was contradictory.

The court quoted a long list of precedent opinion setting forth the distinction between judicial and non-judicial acts.

"The primary question", the court said, "for our decision is whether the legislative branch of the state government by enactment of Chapter 5 of the Special Session of 1933 imposed non-judicial duties upon the judiciary.

"If by that act the duties imposed upon the judiciary are non-judicial under the plain words of the Constitution of Maryland, the act is unconstitutional and void," the court continued.

The court set forth at length Section 305 of the law which set up the rules under which liquor licenses may be granted.

Examined Requirements

The court examined each of these requirements and found that they were not of judicial nature.

The court said after the examination "if the issuance of alcoholic beverage licenses is a judicial function the court could be made a license bureau".

The court continued "It is of course the rule that in constructing a statute all presumptions are in favor of the act and it should not be stricken down as void unless it plainly violates a provision of the constitution. A reasonable doubt in its favor is enough to sustain it.

"The courts can be warranted only if a clear case in declaring an act unconstitutional x x x .

"However, when this court is of the opinion that the legislature has exceeded its authority in placing a non-judicial function in the courts we should not hesitate in declaring the act void".

"In the light of the prior decisions of this Court, we hold that some of the duties imposed on the judges of the circuit court for Allegany county by Section 305 are quasi-legislative and hence non-judicial and that the act as a whole is unconstitutional and invalid, despite the severability clause."

Ray G. Atherton, general manager of the American Trucking Associations, who has been identified with motor carrier activities since 1932 when he became the first manager of the Associated Motor Carriers of Oklahoma, will be the speaker at the Kiwanis meeting at Central YMCA today at 12:15 p. m.

C. E. Stutzman, president of the Allegany Trades Council, will attend a hearing in Annapolis today on the state Labor Relations Act and will, with other Allegany County labor groups, support the "Little Wagner Act." Three Seek Divorces high school football games last fall and that he hopes his bill will stop the practice.

The measure provides a fine of up to $500 for any person, association or corporation who resells or offers for resale any ticket or other evidence of admission to any high school athletic contest in Allegany County at a price greater than the original selling price. It was referred to the county delegation.

A measure introduced by Delegate See would require fire escapes on all buildings used for hotels or lodging houses of more than two stories. All exits to fire escapes would have to be plainly marked with a red light and exit sign, See added. He said he introduced the measure because of the great number of disastrous hotel fires throughout the country. The bill was referred to the Judiciary Committee.

A House joint resolution introduced by Delegates See and Ankeney (D-Washington) was passed in the State Senate last night. The resolution asks the governor to appoint a commission of five to investigate state departments as to why they are not employing handicapped persons.

The State Rehabilitation Department trains such persons and asks other employers to hire them, See said, adding that the state also should employ them.

of Maryland, declared the bill interfered with private enterprise.

So did William A. Gunter, Cumberland, who represented Mrs. Lichtenstein. Both Gunter and Taxier said the measure would deprive Mrs. Lichtenstein of her means of livelihood.

Delegate Whitworth declared, however, that such business is always subject to control and regulation. He placed it in the same category as narcotics and said it is subject to government interference.

Whitworth said last night that the action of the Court of Appeals in declaring the present county alcoholic beverage license and regulation law unconstitutional may make it necessary for him to amend his liquor dispensary bill.

The liquor law was held invalid because it directed the judges of the Fourth Judicial Circuit to perform non-judicial acts.

Whitworth's bill provides for the judges to appoint the manager of the dispensary, and he said the ruling of the Court of Appeals make it necessary for him to change this provision.

Stock Market Rallies In Atmosphere Of Nervousness Over World Affairs

NEW YORK, March 12 (AP) — Stocks produced their first market rally in nearly a week today in an atmosphere of nervousness over foreign affairs.

Demand picked up in the final hour and at the close advances for industrials ranged to more than two points. Total transactions of 950,000 shares compared with 1,190,000 Tuesday.

Pennsylvania Railroad finished 1½ points higher at 23. Better performers included Allied Chemical, ahead 2½ at 169½; United States Gypsum, up two at 97½; United States Steel 1¼ at 72⅝; General Motors seven-eighths at 58¾, Southern Railway 1⅝ at 43⅜, and Phelps Dodge, one at 40. Johnson and Johnson jumped 5¾ to close at 60¾. Other gainers were Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, United States Rubber, American Telephone, North America, Commonwealth and Southern, American Can, Westinghouse Electric, International Harvester and Boeing. Chrysler, after an early gain of more than two, dipped around three points before recovering to finish up three-fourths at 95¼.

Chesapeake and Ohio touched a new low ground for the year, and closed at 48½, off seven-eighths. Among other losers were Union Pacific, Dow Chemical, Douglas Aircraft and Johns Manville.

Improved in the Curb were Fansteel, Textron, Cities Service, American Gas and Electric, Raytheon and Salt Dome Oil. Turnover of 210,000 shares here compared with 310,000 yesterday.

Railway issues dug in and held their ground in the bond market after a series of recent setbacks.

Sales totaled $3,330,000, compared with $3,670,000 Tuesday.

Long-term United States governments slipped a trifle in the over-the-counter market with the Victory Loan December 2½s of '67-'72 off 1-32 at 103 4-32 bid.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, March 12 — Bob Hope swears Bing Crosby would never have exposed his legs in "Emperor Waltz" if his (Bob's) gams hadn't been so glamorous in "Monsieur Beaucaire." Now Bob's slicking back into the silken stockings again in another costumer, "Clown of Fortune," in which he'll play a court jester of the 16th century. Perhaps I shouldn't have used the word "now" on account of he ain't gonna make this one until he's had six months in which to rest and roam in the direction of South America.

Tyrone Power

Costume movies are certainly having a revival after being supposedly dead at the box office. Ty Power has "Captain From Castile" coming up. Cornel Wilde has "Forever Amber" and "The Black Rose" and now "Clown of Fortune," which is set against the times of the Spanish attempt to unseat the King of France. It's written by a Roosian named Mikhail Rykoff and is being adapted by Marion Parsonette.

Lana Turner will not make "Coquette"—that Lana told me when I talked to her a few days ago.

"The studio isn't pleased with the script," she said, "so they've decided against making it. That gives me time off."

When she said, "that gives me time off," I picked up my ears. "Time off to go anywhere you want to?" I asked.

"Yes," she said, "but I don't know where I'm going."

At this moment, it might mean that she and Tyrone Power will marry sooner than anyone expects, although Annabella, who went east Monday, said that she is not getting her divorce until she returns from Paris in the Fall.

M-G-M has nothing ready for their young star, so she is free to have several months off.

One of the year's most sensational boy actors is 14-year-old Richard Tyler who wrapped up Moss Hart's new Broadway show, "Christopher Blake" and stole all the thunder.

He was a cinch to be paged for the movies and so here he comes, under contract to Brynie Foy, to star in "Catch Me Before I Kill." The story is based on a magazine article by Albert Deutsch that has stirred up much controversy among juvenile delinquency authorities.

Deutsch contends that the drastic punishment given boy delinquents practically puts them on the road to crime with their first offense and that they are treated as hardened criminals rather than as wayward youths.

Gabriel Pascal, who has gone to England, always does a lot of talking, and some of it is wishful thinking. Among the hints he dropped is that Gary Cooper has been offered the lead in George Bernard Shaw's "The Devil's Disciple."

It's the great G. B.'s hope that Gary will star in the picture, Pascal intimated. Don't ever think for a moment that Shaw doesn't have his say about his plays when it comes to casting and to adaptations.

I am told Gary has not been indifferent to Pascal's offer.

Chatter in Hollywood: There was a big rumor out over the week end that Townsend Netcher, who has been devotion itself to Mrs. Harriet Taylor, was marrying the lovely lady. Mrs. Taylor, who is the widow of Coard Taylor, Union Oil executive, was left a fortune. "T," one of the heirs of the Boston store millions, however, denied that he and the glamorous Harriet had any immediate plans. But, it wouldn't surprise me if they did elope one of these days. You never know what my friend "T" will do.

Nearly nine years ago, right at the start of trouble in Austria, Clarence Brown was in the Bavarian Alps, shooting backgrounds for "Idiot's Delight." He got out of Austria into Switzerland only a step ahead of the Germans, and he saw the flight of many frightened people.

One girl in particular caught his interest, and now Clarence has written a story based on that experience, and which he will make under the title, "Flight." Katherine Hepburn, who just finished "Song of Love" for him, will talk over the script when she returns from Connecticut.

I hear through the grapevine that David Selznick has signed Lucienne Boyer, who received sensational reviews after her appearance at the cafe society show in New York.

David, Jennifer Jones, Barbara Cushing Mortimer and Bill Paley visited the night spot where Boyer is entertaining and David had a long talk with her. I am told he offered her a part in one of his coming pictures and she accepted, so I suppose we will be seeing her in Hollywood.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Tyrone Power called on Annabella to wish her bon voyage before she left. He'll live in the house until Millicent Rogers, who rented it, comes west in April.

Phillip Dorn, who was so critically ill, is completely out of danger, but he must remain in the hospital for at least three weeks.

The Marie McDonald-Harry Karl romance is a blooming again. She hostessed a party in Karl's honor at the Beverly Tropics and to see them, well—you'd say they care. In Hollywood you never know.

The Charlie Chaplins gave a big party for nearly a hundred people to see the first showing of his movie "Monsieur Verdeoux." Everyone was sworn to secrecy so that whether it's good or bad, no one is saying.

Jean Arthur made one of her rare public appearances at the Santa Monica Mayfair with Frank Ross, natch, and the Lee Bowmans. Jean looks very well.

John Joseph, Universal executive and one of my favorite people is in St. John's hospital with a broken foot—and he's none too happy about this enforced rest for three weeks.

Reese Llewellyn Milner has been looking at a house in Bel-Air for Mrs. Betty Norcoss, whom, rumor says, he will wed as soon as it's legal. He sold the house in which he and Ann Miller lived to the William Goetzs, because Mrs. Norcoss thought it was too big.

That's all today.

Man Gets No Credit For His Bravery

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — Four years after his newspaper ad for a wife brought mail applications from 700 women, a Lookout Mountain farmer became a husband.

But a day after his marriage last December, his matrimonial status developed into somewhat of a problem.

He said his wife, a stout, middle-aged woman, went home for clothes and did not return.

"It irritates me because she left and matters are even worse because she took the marriage license with her," he said gloomily. "It's difficult to prove to friends that I ever was married."

Citrus From Cedar

The mistake made by an ancient Greek is said to be the origin of the term "citrus" to describe such fruits as oranges, lemons, and grapefruit. The word means "cedar." A Greek botanist some two thousand years ago saw a citrus tree for the first time and exclaimed about the beauty of the "Cedar tree." He marvelet at the wonderful "cedar apples" that grew on its branches. His mistake was picked up by the ancient Romans who called the fruits "citrus."

His Dog House Cost Him $500

GOLDSBORO, N. C.—C. M. Avery has what is probably the costliest dog house in Goldsboro. It cost him $500.

It happened this way: Avery finally was able to secure delivery on a new truck for his Isaacs Furnitrue store. David Vinson of the store asked what he would take for the old truck.

Avery said that since the truck was so old if the worker would build him a dog house he could have the truck. So Avery bought lumber and Vinson built the dog house (on store time).

Then Vinson took the old truck to a garage, had it repaired, and as he prepared to drive it away, a man asked him what he would take for it.

A sale was agreed on and the buyer peeled off five $100 bills. So Avery's dog house cost him $500.

COSMIC BOMB LISTED AS 5 TO 1 FAVORITE FOR KENTUCKY DERBY

ST. LOUIS, March 12—(AP)—Cosmic Bomb, a dark brown colt owned by William Helis of New Orleans, was listed a 5 to 1 favorite today for the 73rd Kentucky Derby in winter book odds released by James J. Carroll, a St. Louis betting commissioner.

Faultless, winner of the recent Flamingo Stakes in Florida, was second at 6 to 1 and Fervent was third at 8 to 1. Both colts are products of Warren Wright's Calumet Farm near Lexington, Ky. Wright has five derby nominees.

Blue Border, bred by the late Col. E. R. Bradley and now owned by the Greentree Stable, was listed at 10 to 1 odds along with Double Jay of the Bridgewood Stables and Phalanx, owned by C. V. Whitney.

Other favorites were On Trust, a chestnut colt owned by Earl Stice and Sons, at 12 to 1 and Jet Pilot, a nominee from Mrs. Elizabeth Arden Graham's Maine Chance Farm, at 15 to 1.

A farrier was originally one who shoes horses. The term is derived through Old French "ferrier," from Latin "ferum," iron.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Helen A. Bottemer, Vs. Lawrence P. Bottemer, No. 19905, Equity, in the Circuit Court, for Allegany County, Maryland.

The object of this Bill of Complaint is to secure the passage of a decree divorcing Helen A. Bottemer, Complainant, A VINCULO MATRIMONII, from Lawrence P. Bottemer, the Defendant.

The Bill of Complaint states that the couple were married on July twenty-fourth, 1945, at St. Augustine, Florida, and lived together for approximately ten days at which time the Defendant exhibited severe cruelty toward the Complainant, at which time she returned to Cumberland, and has lived here ever since; the Bill further states that she has attempted to effect a reconciliation, her efforts have been of no avail. No children were born of this marriage. The separation of the parties has been continuous and unbroken for more than eighteen consecutive months before the filing of this suit for an absolute divorce and that the Complainant is a resident of the state of Maryland, and that the Defendant is a non-resident of this state and when last heard from was a resident of the state of Florida. The bill prays the Court to grant her the right to resume the use of her maiden name, Helen A. Combs, and for such other and further relief as may be proper in Equity.

It is thereupon this 26th. day of February, 1947, ORDERED by the Circuit Court, for Allegany County, Maryland, sitting in Equity, that the Plaintiff cause a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Allegany County, one each week, for four successive weeks, before the 30th. day of March, 1947, giving notification to the said Lawrence P. Bottemer, absentee Defendant, of the object and substance of this Bill of Complaint, and warning him to be and appear in this Court, either in person, or by solicitor, on or before the 15th. day of April, 1947, to show cause, if any he may have, why a decree ought not be passed as prayed.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Mystery of the Rocking Chair

Ma Hoskins has a favorite rocking chair that's worn and shabby, with a noisy creak. Pa Hoskins has listened to that squeak for thirty years . . . and he decided to do something about it. So he bought a new rocker, and hid the other in the barn.

Ma allowed as how grateful she was . . . but when Pa missed her one afternoon, he heard a familiar sound that led him to the barn. There was Ma rocking happily in her old chair—squeak . . . squeak.

No need to tell you how Pa felt.

Quick as a wink he hid the new rocker and then brought Ma's old chair back to the house. Now when he hears that squeak, he looks at the mellow glass of beer he's drinking and says to himself: "She's just as entitled to her small pleasures as I am."

From where I sit, that's one of the reasons the Hoskinses are the happiest, oldest-married, peacefulest folks in our town.

Victorious in their last eleven starts, Allegany High School's city and W. M. I. League champions, will be shooting for the Maryland District No. 1 championship when they do battle with Hagerstown High School tonight at 8 o'clock on the Fort Hill High School court.

Allegany and Hagerstown are finalists in the District No. 1 tournament for Class "A" schools. Tonight's winner will move to the finals of the state tournament and will play the victor in the three-cornered battle for the District No. 3 title among Sparrows Point, Glen Burnie and Catonsville.

Clifton Van Roby and Clifford Fearer will officiate tonight's game.

Allegany enters the state tourney with a record of 18 wins and 5 defeats. It will be the first meeting of the Campers and the Hubs this season. Hagerstown dropped two games to Fort Hill, 34-32 and 43-37. Allegany beat Fort Hill twice 41-21 and 34-29 and will enter tonight's game at the favorite.

Fort Hill and Allegany Reserves will meet in tonight's prelim at 6:50 o'clock.

Keyser Tourney Opens

The opening game of the Region No. 4 tournament at Potomac State School will get under way tonight at 8 o'clock with Keyser's Golden Tornado meeting Charles Town's Blues.

The other semi-finals between the favored Moorefield Yellow Jackets and Rowlesburg will be played tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in Keyser. Finalists will tangle Saturday night at 8 o'clock.

Keyser, Charles Town, Rowlesburg and Moorefield won the sectional tournaments held last week at Keyser, Martinsburg, Kingwood and Parsons.

The winner of the three-day tournament in Keyser will represent Region No. 4 in the state championship event at West Virginia University, Morgantown, March 20, 21 and 22.

William P. Hahn and "Eck" Miers will referee the three games in Keyser.

Bruce To Play Here

Bruce High School, of Westernport will play Brunswick, of Frederick county, Friday afternoon for the championship of District No. 1 in Maryland's Class "C" tourney. The game will be staged at Fort Hill High School at 3 p. m. and will be handled by "Bobby" Cavanaugh and William P. Hahn.

Brunswick moved to the round in the district by defeating Boonsboro, 41-32, at Middletown yesterday.

In a Class "D" girls game, Friendsville, of Garrett county, will play Williamsport High on the latter's court this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Misses Schlosser and Miller will officiate.

Barton Eliminated

Barton High School passed out of the Class "D" tournament last night when the up-creek quint dropped a 41 to 29 decision to Coach Richard Doub's Williamsport High School cagers on the Williamsport, Md. court.

Allegany county's representatives in the "D" competition trailed at the quarter, 10-2, at the half 17-11, and at the end of the third period, 28-19. Barton put on a spurt to pull up within four points of Williamsport in the third quarter at 23-19 but was unable to catch the home team.

Hanna, 6-foot-4 guard, who tips the beam at 215 pounds, played an outstanding role in the Williamsport triumph. His height and weight enabled him to control the ball under the backboards throughout the game and he collaborated with Cole to ring up as many points credited to the Barton team—a total of 29.

Leo Bradley and Bobby Green were Barton's best bets. The former garnered 10 points to head the Barton scorers while Green turned in a nice floor game.

Through its victory Williamsport gained the right to play the winner of the Jarrettsville-Elk Ridge game at Frederick Tuesday, March 18 at 2:30 p. m. The lineups:

Salem Edges Beckley In Tourney, 49-48

BUCKHANNON, W. Va., March 12 (AP)—Salem college dropped in two field goals in the last 45 seconds tonight to hand a heart-breaking 49-48 defeat to Beckley College stout-hearted Blue Hawks in the wind-up of the second round of the 10th annual West Virginia Collegiate Conference Basketball Tournament.

Beckley held the upper hand 48-45 as the minute hand began its final circuit, and a cheerring throng of 2,000 thought another upset was in the making to match West Virginia Wesleyans 61-47 victory over Fairmont State in the first game of the evening.

In the afternoon games of the trifinal session, Potomac State defeated Glenville 72 to 65 and Alderson Broaddus easily subdued West Liberty 64 to 46.

In the exciting Salem-Beckley game, Charley Morus and Eugene Brissey pulled the game out of the fire with those two quick and important goals.

Crossin Nears Record, Penn Wallops Terps

PHILADELPHIA, March 12 (AP)—The University of Pennsylvania, led by prolific scoring captain Francis (Chink) Crossin, compiled its greatest one game point total tonight shellacking the University of Maryland, 80 to 54.

Crossin, gunning for the all-time Penn individual scoring record of 327 points made by Joey Schaaf in 1928, came within seven points of his goal tonight as he showered 26 points through the hoops. Crossin, who played the entire game, will have a chance to set a new Penn record Saturday night when Princeton is met in the season's finale here.

Tommy Mont led the Maryland scorers with 14 points.

Hyattsville Boys Conquer Oakland In Tourney 39-30

Bladensburg Defeats Oakland Girls 27-14

Oakland High School's basketball teams were eliminated from the Class "B" tournament of the Health and Education Association of Maryland Schools yesterday afternoon in Hagerstown when the boys went down to defeat at the hands of Hyattsville, 39 to 30, and the girls suffered a 27-14 setback at the hands of Bladensburg High School. Both of the winning teams come from Prince Georges county.

The boys' game, second on the program, was a thriller and was not decided until the final stanza when Hyattsville outscored the Garrett counties, 12 to 4, to bag the decision. The score was knotted six times—at 11, 13, 16, 18, 22 and 25—and the lead changed hands a similar number of times in this close battle. Hyattsville held a one-point advantage at the close of the third period, 27-26, and also led at the intermission, 20-18 and at the conclusion of the first period, 11-9.

Hyattsville so completely bottled up Oakland with a zone defense that the Garrett county team was limited to five field goals while the opposition racked up a total of 17 double-deckers. Oakland, however, collected most of its points at the charity stripe, converting 20 of 32 foul shots while Coach William Yarnall's Hornet were connecting five times in 13 tries.

Top point scorers were Kildow and Hansford, of the Highlanders with 13 and 12 tallies. The pair registered 15 of their 25 points at the charity line.

Brilliant ball handling and sensational shooting by Jane Merrill, speedy forward, featured Bladensburg's triumph over the Oakland girls. Miss Merrill sank eight fielders, most of which were one-handed outside shots.

The much taller Bladensburg team jumped away to an 11-9 lead at the quarter and stayed on top throughout. At the half the score was 20-18 and at the close of the third stanza, 27-26.

Miss Naughton, coach of the Bladensburg team, used 13 players in the game. The lineups:

Gamble On Award Winner

Brother Gregory Scores

By C. V. BURNS

The familiar face of Wilmer Brinton, Jr., racing steward, will be among the missing in August when the Cumberland Fair Association holds its annual 10-day meeting at Fairgo.

Brinton has requested the Maryland Racing Commission not to consider his name for the post he has held at Maryland tracks since 1944.

Wilmer is giving up his Maryland post because he accepted a steward's position at Gulfstream Park, Fla., and cannot be at Bowie for the opening of the Maryland season on April 1.

He also has accepted a position as steward at the new Lincoln track under construction near Pawtucket, R. I. More than 100 days of racing will be staged at the Lincoln half miler beginning July 1.

It is understood that George Brown, Jr., whom Brinton succeeded in 1944, and William Harron are being considered for the position being vacated by Brinton.

George P. Mahoney's term as chairman of the Maryland Racing Commission expires on July 1. If he is not reappointed by Governor Lane it is said that either Carle Jackson or Stuart Janney will be in line for the job.

We got quite a chuckle out of something that happened during Coach Lee Patton's talk during the K. of C. sportsmanship award dinner here Sunday night.

While the West Virginia University coach was lambasting the widespread gambling at games one of the guests seated near us produced a sheet of paper containing the names of the eight nominees for the award. Alongside each player's name were initials.

"What do those initials represent?" we inquired.

"Why they're gambling here under Patton's very nose," he replied. "Those initials are persons betting on the outcome of the voting for the award."

Then he whispered the name of the jackpot winner in our ear. The winner of the money was one of Cumberland's leading citizens.

"Aren't we devils?" said our friend in the same manner that Ralph Edwards would put it across on the radio.

Milkwagon, the Kentucky Derby eligible, got that monicker when somebody looked at him and said he looked as if he would end up pulling a milk wagon. The blue blue grass classic this year is set for May 3.

Middle Atlantic League fans of the late 1920s should get a kick out of this one—so should those who have been waiting all these years for the Pirates to win the pennant.

A group of Donora (Pa.) fans read that Pittsburgh was in the market for a 20-game winning pitcher. In view of the vintage of Pirate pitchers signed they offered the Bucs the only man worthy of a place on the roster—John "Scissors" McIlvaine.

"He is close to 70 but we think he can be signed for slightly less than $80,000," they wrote.

"Scissors" McIlvaine was 50 when he managed the Jeannette Jays in the Mid-Atlantic and he always boasted he could pitch better ball than most of the youngsters breaking in. When Jeannette pitchers were being walloped all over the lot "Scissors" would relieve them and the enemy usually pounced on his offerings, too.

During a game here when the Colts drove several Jay pitchers to cover and continued to jump on McIlvaine, someone remarked: "I wonder why they let that old buzzard go out on the mound—he can't pitch."

"No wonder they put him in there," wisecracked another fan. "He can't hear the noise from the bombardment and he can't hear the crowd razzing him because he's as deaf as a post."

A total of 151 boxers entered the South Atlantic A. A. U. tourney which opened last night and closes next Wednesday in Baltimore. The mittmen represented 25 teams of the city and state.

George Carrington's Crisfield High School quint is in the running for the Eastern Shore basketball honors. George formerly tutored cage teams at Frostburg State Teachers' college. He is principal at Crisfield now. A brother, Francis, better known as "Jake," coaches basketball and soccer at Central High School, Lonaconing.

There's a good story going the rounds about Brother Gregory, LaSalle High School's publicity wizard.

Prior to the opening of the current basketball season LaSalle had booked too many games so it was decided to drop several opponents. This action caused coaches to blow up. One, in particular, hit the ceiling but Brother Gregory got a ladder and brought him down without injury to either.

"I'm going to call the sports editor of a Cumberland paper and have him print what I think of you cancelling games with our school," the coach shouted over the telephone.

"Is that so!" Brother Gregory fired back. "Please be sure to blast us in both Cumberland papers because we would like to have clippings from the morning and evening papers for our scrap book."

J. Hammond Brown, well known outdoors writer, estimates that legislation calling for a 50-cent hike in Maryland fishing licenses will net the state game and fish department an extra $40,000.

Under the proposed schedule a state-wide resident licenses will cost $2, a non-resident license hikes up to $6 and the special Potomac River license will go to $2.25.

Amvets To Play Redskins, Rens And Baltimore

Bullets To End Season For Locals March 30

Cumberland's high-flying Amvets will play three more home games before calling it a season, Robert Whip, business manager, announced last night.

The classy local professional quintet which has won 14 out of 22 games and has bagged its last 13 will meet the Washington Redskins Sunday night at 9 o'clock, will play hosts to the famous New York Renaissance (Rens) five on Sunday, March 23, and then climax their campaign by battling "Bud" Jeannette's Baltimore Bullets, topnotch club of the National Basketball League in a return game here on March 30.

Whip was advised yesterday that the Redskins have been playing most of their games on the road and have won 60 per cent of their contests with leading professional quints.

Washington's starting lineup will include Jim Youel and Wilbur Moose, who starred on the gridiron with the Redskins; Johnny Adams, center, formerly of Notre Dame University; Al Demao and Clem Stralka, a 260-pound guard.

Bill Hahn and Clifton Van Roby will referee Sunday's game.

The Bullets, now engaged in a playoff series with three other first division teams of the National League, appeared here early in the season and defeated the Amvets by the score of 47 to 42.

Starkey Wins In Tourney, Bobby Goss Is Defeated

2,800 Witness Bouts; Tressler Draws Bye

BALTIMORE, March 12—Forced to fight in the welterweight class because he was one pound above the lightweight limit, Randall "Skeets" Starkey, representing Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, Cumberland, won his first round match in the South Atlantic A.A.U. championship boxing tournament tonight by earning a unanimous decision over Freddie Demski, of the Poodle A. C., of Baltimore.

Approximately 2,800 persons witnessed the opening round matches at the Baltimore Gardens. The baxers were expected to be throwing leather in the wee sma' hours of Thursday morning.

Goss Loses Decision

Starkey weighed in at 136 pounds, one pound over the lightweight limit, and was forced to compete in the 147-pound class. The Cumberland ace is scheduled to fight Leon Vincenti, of Havre de Grace, in his next match.

Cumberland's No. 1 flyweight was defeated in the opening round of the tourney when Bobby Goss, of the South Cumberland A. C., dropped a split decision to Mike Bruno, of St. John's A. A. This was a fast and furious battle and the boys slugged it out after the bell ended the first and second rounds.

Johnny Tressler, Cumberland heavyweight, drew a bye in the first round, and will return here next Wednesday night for the final round.

Moss Is Matched

Joe Moss, 205 pound football player, representing the Cumberland American Legion, drew Stanley Cousins of the Baltimore A. C. as his opening round opponent.

Jimmy Catanese, Cumberland featherweight, was paired with Joe Turner, of Carver High School, Baltimore, in another match expected to go on sometime Thursday morning.

Champions in the eight defferent divisions will compete in the National A. A. U. tourney in Boston next month.

Potomac State Spills Glenville, 72-65

Keyserites Move To Semi-Finals Of Tournament

Yewcic, Ours Get 44 Points For Winners

By CHARLES ARMENTROUT

BUCKHANNON, W. Va., March 12—(AP)—An upsetting Potomac State team did it again today, knocking Glenville State from the 10th annual West Virginia Collegiate basketball tournament by a score of 72-65 in a rousing game.

The contest followed a somewhat desultory exhibition by Alderson Broaddus' potent point-makers who posted a 64-46 defeat of West Liberty in the first afternoon game of the tri-finals.

Fairmont State, sharing a favorite's role with A-B and West Virginia Wesleyan, the 1946 defending champions, met tonight in the 7:30 p. m. session with Beckley College and Salem scheduled for the tri-final closer.

Coach Dana (Horse) Lough's surprisers from the Eastern Panhandle were behind 38-33 as the third quarter began. This failed to dampen the spirit, or ability, of little Mike Yewcic who was all over the floor and under the basket those final two periods.

Before Glenville awoke, the Catamounts had run the score to 47-38. In a harrowing six minutes of the third quarter none of Glenville's scoring threats could master the hoop. Bob Whiting, Jack Luzader and Beecher Reed were missing them all.

Yewcic, however, and tall, lanky Dallas Ours just couldn't be stopped. Time and time again Yewcic dribbled in with a rush to lay them up, or tree-topping Ours was waiting to tap it in. Yewcic ended up with 28 points, 22 coming on field goals, and Ours had eight straight two-pointers for a total of 16.

Their great work was matched by the superlative ball-handling of Arnold Thomas, a fighting forward who was constantly getting the rebounds on both hands. Lineups:

UNTOUCHABLE—Major league scouts drool when they are this lad—Johnny Antonelli, 17, in action. But they can't touch him because he is a junior in high school and an American Legion player. Johnny, called by Bob Feller the best pitching prospect in years, lives in Rochester, N. Y., where his smoke ball, change of pace, fast-breaking hook and perfect control are the talk of the town.

GOLD DUST TWINS OF GOLF FAVORED IN $10,000 OPEN

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 12—(AP)—Ben Hogan and Jimmy Demaret, the new gold dust twins of professional golf, rule heavy favorites to take top money in the $10,000 Jacksonville Open Tournament starting tomorrow over the Hyde Park municipal course.

A wind that resembled a young williwaw whipped over the 6508-yard layout today and sent many practice scores soaring. However, it had little effect on the shots of the two Texans.

With Sam Snead, winner of the two previous open events here, on a South African tour the mighty little Hogan is given the best chance of capturing the $2,000 first prize money.

Beltin' Ben's home club is Hershey, Pa., and Demaret is playing out of Ojai, Calif. They succeeded to the role of the gold dust twins when Byron Nelson retired and Harold (Jug) McSpaden hit a slump.

Several young newcomers were conceded good chances of finishing near the top. They include Jackson Bradley of Chicago, Johnny Palmer of Badin, N. C., and Lew Worsham of Washington, D. C. Leading amateurs entered are Frank (Muscles) Stranahan of Toledo and John Barnum of Chicago.

If only one more ounce of potatoes a day were eaten by everyone in the United States, the resulting increase in consumption in terms of farm weight would total over 70 million bushels a year.

Allegany Beagle Club Plans Derby Trial On Sunday

Barton Will Erect Club House, Kennels

The second annual AKC sanctioned championship spring derby trial of the Allegany Beagle Club will be held Sunday on the club grounds, eight miles south of Cumberland on McMullen highway.

Drawings will be made at 8 a. m. and no hounds may be entered after the drawing has been made.

V. A. Devan, Masontown, Pa., will judge all entries, assisted by T. James Stevenson of Cumberland, in the 13 inch class and by Robert Shockey, Meyersdale, Pa., in the 15 inch class.

First, second, third and fourth place hounds in this trial will be eligible to compete against hounds placing in derby trials of each of the other 12 clubs comprising the Tri-State Association at the association winners' stake to be held at Beaver Valley, Pa., March 28 and 29. Winners there will go on to the international spring trial, which event is to beagles what the Kentucky Derby is to racing fans. Dr. H. C. Diehl, Frostburg, is chairman of Allegany's field trial committee and will be in charge of drawing and measuring the hounds.

Will Erect Club House

At a recent meeting of the club in the Queen City Hotel, President Hugh Stevenson, of Ellerslie, anounced that an agreement had been reached with Harry J. Barton, dairyman and sportsman, whereby Barton will erect a club house and kennels for use of club members and to serve as headquarters for club activities. Mr. Barton also contemplates erection of a skeet shooting layout at the site of the club house. A large portion of the clubs running grounds is located on Barton's property.

It was reported that club members had recently stocked the grounds with 132 cottontail rabbits, five dozen of which were purchased by the club and five dozen donated by Simeon Green of Frostburg and one dozen by C. A. Smith of Cumberland. In spite of the fact that the rabbits arrived during the recent heavy snowfall, they were stocked without loss of a single rabbit, due in large measure to co-operation of H. J. Barton and C. R. Armstrong, farm owners, in making a large barn available, in which the bunnies were released until the snow had thawed, and in furnishing feed for them.

A series of five club trials and an AKC sanctioned all age trial in the fall have been outlined for club activities during the year. The first scheduled event, a club derby trial, originally set for February 23, had to be cancelled due to fifteen inches of snow covering the ground at that time.

The club has voted to affiliate with the Western Maryland Wildlife Federation and H. M. Armstrong, John R. Armstrong, Dean Broadwater and C. R. Deremer were appointed as delegates to represent the club at Federation meetings.

Club officials wish to emphasize that the club running grounds are for the use of club members only and not open to the general public, due to the fact that the club and its members are responsible to owners of the property for its proper use.

WHAMMO!—The right arm of Jimmy Bivins appears to be waving farewell to Ezzard Charles, Cincinnati light-heavyweight hope, as Bivins crashes to the canvas unconscious in the fourth round of their fight in Cleveland. The knockout, which was an upset as the heavier Bivins was favored, seems to surprise even Charles, judging by the look on the winner's face.

CCNY AND SYRACUSE TO PLAY FOR PLACE IN NCAA TOURNAMENT

NEW YORK, March 12 (AP)—City College of New York and Syracuse University will meet in a special basketball game at Troy, N. Y., Friday night to determine which will represent District No. 2 in the eastern regional playoffs of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

This was announced today by Prof. Anthony Orlando, faculty manager of athletics at CCNY, who said the method of selection was approved by the two institutions and by the three-man committee charged with the responsibility of naming the district representative.

The City College team concluded its season last night with a record of 15 victories in 19 starts by crushing New York University, 91-60. Syracuse won 19 games and lost five this season.

The winner of Friday night's game will join Navy, Wisconsin and Holy Cross in the Eastern NCAA regional tourney opening in Madison Square March 20. The eastern winner then plays the winner of a similar four-team western playoff for the NCAA title here March 25.

Tournament Days Are Over, Ouimet Declares

BOSTON, March 12 (AP) — Francis Ouimet, national amateur golf champion in 1914 and 1931, says his tournament days are over.

Ouimet, who is the non-playing captain of the Walker Cup team, is now vice-president of the U. S. Golfers Association.

"I had my days back in 1914 and 1931," he told a testimonial banquet here, "and I admit they were good days. Now, however, I am content to watch the young fellows.

"Of course I will always continue to play golf, but my tournament days are over."

Babe Didrikson's Golf Schedule Is Halted By Injury

Torn Rib Muscles Keep Star Idle

By FRANK ECK

WINTER PARK, Fla., March 12 (AP)—Mrs. Mildred (Babe) Didrickson Zaharias, the woman who outdrives many men of the golf course, said today three torn muscles near the lower right rib will force her to interrupt her winter golf until March 27 when the Titleholders' Open starts at Augusta, Ga.

"The tournament strain has been terrific," said the wife of former wrestler George Zaharias of Denver, Colo.

"I have three torn muscles and I've got to lay off the game for 10 days. And just when I was going good. Won 12 tournaments in a row. In the last four I played with this rib injury and a cold, both are from tourney strain and I'm going to listen to the doctor and just relax."

The 29-year-old athlete won five tournaments last season, including the All-American, National Amateur and Texas Women's Open. She rested during November and December and began a strenuous winter tour on Jan. 19 at Tampa where she won the first of seven events this season.

She followed this with triumphs at Miami for the Dougherty trophy; the International Four-Ball at Hollywood, Fla., Mixed Scotch Foursome at Orlando, and amateur events at Palm Beach, Ormond Beach and St. Augustine.

"I've had 51 tournament days in a row since Jan. 19," said the Babe.

"There's another thing I'd like you to get straight," she said when questioned about her age. "I may look a bit older but I'm only 29. I weigh 138 pounds and won't be 30 until June. People forget that I've been around a long time. I was only 15 when I competed in the 1932 Olympics."

Mrs Zaharias plans to compete abroad in the British woman's amateur and in the Scottish amateur in June.

"I'll miss the Western open, though," she said

Rollie Hemsley Weds

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 12 (AP)—Rollie Hemsley, veteran Philadelphia Phillies catcher, and Barbara Copeman of Brantford, Ontario, were married here last night.

The wedding party was made up of Hemsley's teammates and their wives — Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. Del Ennis and Mr. and Mrs. Emil Verban—and Babe Alexander, the club's traveling secretary.

Michigan Ups Prices Of Football Tickets

ANN ARBOR, Mich., March 12—(AP)—The rising cost of living caught up with the football fan today as the University of Michigan announced a price boost for its 1947 tickets.

The 20 percent federal tax will be shifted to the spectator, Athletic Director Fritz Crisler announced, boosting ticket prices from $3 to $3.60 for singles, from $4 to $4.80 for box seats, and from $15 to $18 for season tickets.

Student ticket prices will not be affected.

Case Is Dismissed

PEORIA, Ill., March 12 (AP) — Colorado College today officially dismissed the case of Bradley University's jammed basketball timepiece incident and expressed the hope friendly athletic relations between the two schools would not be impaired.

Bradley awarded Colorado College a 56-55 victory after the official clock balked in the closing minutes of a game here Monday night and enabled Bradley to win 57-56. The game ended in an uproar as Colorado College players protested the timing.

Liquor Law Will Remain Effective For 30 Days

Kimble Introduces Emergency Measure

Allegany County's alcoholic beverage law, declared unconstitutional yesterday by the Court of Appeals, will remain operative for another 30 days if customary court procedure is followed.

Attorney General Hall Hammond said last night that Court of Appeals procedure ordinarily allows a period of 30 days grace for its action to become effective.

He added that the court "merely actually indicated yesterday what its mandate will be 30 days hence. The ruling doesn't mean they will have to stop drinking in Allegany County."

Meanwhile, State Senator Robert B. Kimble introduced in the Senate last night an emergency bill to validate present license until midnight April 30 when they ordinarily would expire.

Members of the county delegation at Annapolis said they expect to have ready for introduction in the House of Delegates next week a new alcoholic beverage act to replace the one declared unconstitutional.

Results of Decision

Briefly, this is the net result of the Court of Appeal's decision:

The act is unconstitutional because it imposes on the judges of the Fourth Judicial Circuit non-judicial duties.

The act of 1894, the old "saloon law" is not valid.

The limitation on the number of licenses that can be issued is valid, and the county can still limit the number of licenses.

The new law must be passed before May 1, if Kimble's bill is passed, if defeated, a new law must be enacted by April 11.

The four to two decision of the court, written by Judge Collins, reversed a ruling last year by Judge Joseph D. Mish, Hagerstown, who upheld the legality of the act following a hearing in Circuit Court in Cumberland, on the petition of Eldred A. Cromwell, owner of a Braddock Road tavern, against Clerk of the Court Robert Jackson.

Cromwell, unable to obtain a liquor license under the 1933 act, which limits licenses to one for every 1,500 in the county population, applied for a liquor permit under the old "saloon law" of 1894, asserting that it was still in force and the 1933 act was invalid. After Jackson denied his application, Cromwell asked for a writ to compel issuance of the license.

Allowed 30 Days

Attorney General Hammond, explaining last night why the act of 1933 would remain operative for 30 days, said attorneys are allowed 30 days in which to file motions for new arguments and that the court ordinarily holds up its mandates until the expiration of that time.

Hammond added, however, that there is nothing to prevent the mandate from being delivered here in less than 30 days.

Whenever the mandate is received, he pointed out, it would have the effect of closing down liquor dispensing establishments if there were no interim law passed.

Hammond said it is his understanding that it is unlawful to sell alcoholic beverages anywhere in the state without a license.

Sen. Kimble's emergency bill to validate present licenses meanwhile passed second reading in the Senate last night and it is expected it will pass third reading today and be sent to the House.

During the Senate session, Kimble asked for and obtained suspension of the rules to allow an immediate favorable report on the bill. It was then sent on to the passage stage.

Stopgap Measure

Kimble explained the measure was a stopgap and it was hoped to get ready soon a bill to replace the one voided by the court.

Kimble's bill reads:

"Whereas, the Court of Appeals of Maryland has today (yesterday) declared invalid Chapter Five of the Acts of the Special Session of 1933, providing for granting of licenses for the sale of alcoholic beverages in Allegany County, and

"Whereas, this act has been presumed to have been valid and in effect since its enactment in 1933, and

"Whereas, if the licenses issued under said Chapter Five of the Acts of the Special Session of 1933 are not continued in effect, it will work a great hardship on the licensees under said act; and

Whereas, it is important that the legislative intent in providing for such licenses in Allegany County be given effect and continued in force; now therefore

"Section 1. Be it enacted by

Union Proposes Undisclosed Offer In Bus Dispute

Company's Answer Is Expected Today

An undisclosed offer was made yesterday to the Potomac Edison Company by John M. Elliott, international representative of PE bus drivers and mechanics, in an effort to settle a strike entering its eighth day.

Elliott said he made the proposal at a meeting held yesterday morning between union and company representatives at the local PE garage and that he expects an answer to his offer at another meeting scheduled for this morning at 10 o'clock.

If the company "goes along," Elliott said, the possibility of the strike ending in the near future appears bright, but, he added, if the company turns down the proposal chances of settlement of the contract dispute will be as dark as they have been since the strike took place last Thursday morning.

Elliott said he "believes and hopes" his offer has a good chance of being accepted by the union membership if it is accepted by the company.

Should the company turn down his proposal, he "will be at a loss" as to what other offer he can make, Elliott stated.

A second meeting of the company and union yesterday was scheduled for the afternoon but was postponed until this morning.

The union has requested a rate of $1.20 an hour which represents a pay increase of 23 cents. The company has offered an increase of $1.07, an increase of 10 cents, plus a three-cent bonus retroactive for 10 months.

Trucking Industry Is Here To Stay, Traffic Club Told

Asserting that there is a place in the transportation system for all carriers, Ray G. Atherton, general manager of the American Trucking Association, told members of the Tri-State Traffic Club at its dinner meeting at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club last night that the trucking industry is here to stay and that it is growing from year to year.

Atherton stated that the transportation problem comes up every year. He stated that no force, with the exception of religion, contributes more to civilization than transportation. Transportation in its essential nature is a servant of business, the speaker declared.

Atherton termed the motor truck the most miraculous and amazing instrument of the transportation system and added that the capacity of motor trucking is unlimited.

Traffic club members were told by Atherton that there are five million trucks in operation in the United States today and added that the carrier which furnishes adequate, efficient, low cost service should get the business regardless of what form of transportation it is.

Atherton stressed that transportation should render the best service possible to the public and asserted that some of these days private rights and private desires will give way to the public interest.

Atherton, who will speak to the Cumberland Kiwanis Club at 12:15 p. m. today at Central YMCA, was introduced by Earle Chaney.

Nutrition Discussion Presented Over WTBO

A discussion of nutrition from the standpoint of wise buying of food was presented in a 15-minute radio broadcast over Station WTBO last night by William P. Cooper, cafeteria supervisor for county schools; Dr. Richmond K. Anderson, head of the federal nutrition unit in Cumberland, and two members of the unit, Miss Mary Brakel and Miss Dolores Howley.

The program was one of a series on conservation sponsored by the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce.

It was pointed out that nutritious food can be purchased economically. Different nutrition values of various foodstuffs were compared and explained.

Fort Ashby Plans Street Lighting Ceremonies Friday

Judge Ernest A. See, Keyser, will be the chief speaker at the ceremonies to be held Friday at 7 p. m. in connection with turning on of the newly installed street lighting system in Fort Ashby, W. Va.

The oldest citizens of the historic Mineral County community will have the honor of turning on the lights.

Oscar Marker, president of the Fort Ashby Volunteer Fire Company, is chairman for the celebration and heads the seven man committee which is in charge of the voluntary project.

Twenty-five lights have been installed to illuminate the three-fourths of a mile of the community which is on Route 28 and about half a mile of Route 46 which runs through the town.

Marker said 115 families representing some 367 citizens have pledged $4 each this year to pay the cost of installation and maintenance of the lights during 1947.

The Potomac Edison Company will send a representative from Romney for the ceremony which will be held in front of the Fire Hall. Plans call for additional lights to be installed next year, Marker said.

TEXTILE UNION OFFICERS—Shown above are the men who will guide the destinies of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, representing 8,600 employes of the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation of America during the coming year. Seated, (left to right) are Joseph J. Barley, recording secretary; John G. Thomas, secretary-treasurer and business manager; Wesley Cook, New York, assistant director of the TWUA's rayon division, who installed the officers recently; William Boyd Coleman, president, and Earl Snyder, vice president. Standing, (left to right) are Howard "Red" Bush, William E. Meagher, Carl Hinkle, James Martin and George Zeigler, members of the local's executive board.

Liquidation Suit Is Filed Against Sport Goods Store

William L. Wilson, Jr. Is Appointed Trustee

A suit to liquidate the Cumberland Sports Center Incorporation, appraised at $12,000, and divide the proceeds among its creditirs was filed yesterday in Circuit Court and William L. Wilson, Jr., was appointed trustee.

According to the bill, the incorporation, of which Robert E. Dudley was named president, is indebted to divers persons and being unable to make payment of such obligations has executed a deed of trust transferring the corporation to Wilson, for the purpose of having it sold under the jurisdiction of the court.

The bill prays that the court appoint Wilson trustee and permit him to dispose of the property and estate since the "incorporation is indebted to sundry persons in various sums of money which it is unable to pay in full." The benefits of a sale, which the court is asked to sanction, are to be placed in trust for the creditors.

The property is described as a sporting goods store with stock, counters, fixtures and equipment valued at approximately $12,000. The court is asked to assume jurisdiction of trust over the property and fix a bond for the trustee.

After appointing Wilson as the trustee, Chief Judge William A. Huster fixed the bond at $12,000 and ordered Wilson to cause an inventory to be taken of all goods and equipment and the property to be appraised.

Following the inventory the incorporation is to be sold either at public or private sale and outstanding accounts are to be collected. The entire sum is to be used to reduce the indebtedness under the jurisdiction of the court.

The business which operates on North Centre street will be permitted to do business until April 12 this year under the court order, but a strict account of all transactions must be kept and turned over to the court.

Miner Is Injured

Wayne Soult, 32, Kitzmiller, was admitted to Memorial Hospital shortly after midnight last night, suffering from chest injuries as a result of a mining accident.

Soult is employed by the Johnstown Coal and Coke Company at Vindex. Details of the accident were not immediately available.

Committee Action Expected Soon On County Liquor Dispensary Bill

Action by the House of Delegates Ways and Means Committee on a bill providing for a wholesale liquor dispensary to be operated by Allegany County is expected within a few days, its sponsor, Delegate Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., said last night following a hearing on the measure yesterday afternoon.

Opposition to the bill was voiced by attorneys for the Maryland Institute of Wine and Spirits Distributors, the Liquor Association of Maryland and Mrs. Elsa L. Lichtenstein, Allegany County wholesale liquor dealer, as well as by L. A. Taxier, manager of Mrs. Lichtenstein's firm, The Lichtenstein Company.

The bill would require that retailers purchase liquor from the county and was introduced in a move to provide the county with additional revenue needed to meet increased opeating expenses.

Favored By Fletcher

One of the principal spokesmen in favor of the measure was Assistant State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher, chairman of the county Republican State Central Committee, who told he committee that it is his opinion the majority of the citizens of Allegany County want to see the bill passed.

Fletcher said the county Republican State Central Committee has unanimously endorsed the bill and that a county dispensary is required in order to gain more revenue.

Benjamin W. O'Rourke, chairman of the legislative committee of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, appeared before the committee as a citizen of the county rather than as a representative of the legislative committee, and said he favored the bill because he is interested in the reduction of the real estate tax.

A telegram from the Board of County Commissioners, who unanimously endorsed the bill, was read.

Delegate Charles M. See spoke in favor of the bill.

Branded As "Socialistic"

I. William Schimmel, Baltimore, attorney for the Maryland Institute of Wine and Spirits Distributors, branded the bill "socialistic."

He said it followed the "totalitarian plan of taking business from individuals and turning it over to the government. The government's job is to license and tax, and not to confiscate."

Records Show McCauley Was Not A Patient In Mental Institution

CHARLESTON, W. Va., March 12 (AP)—Evidence that Mark McCauley never was confined as a patient in a California mental hospital will be offered to the Supreme Court which stayed his scheduled execution for murder, Attorney General Ira J. Partlow said today.

The court will hear on April 22 McCauley's appeal for a first degree murder conviction for the fatal shooting of State Police Sgt. Joseph P. Horne at Emoryville, Mineral County, last September 9. Tucker County Sheriff O. Gay Hovatter was slain at the same time.

Whether the new information will be offered at that time or in advance of that date has not yet been determined, Partlow said.

Mineral County Prosecutor Vernon E. Rankin said letters forwarded from Keyser showed that McCauley had been employed at the Stockton, Calif., hospital as a farm hand but that he had never been committed to that institution.

He quoted one of the letters from Dr. R. B. Toller, superintendent at the hospital, that there was "never any question" about McCauley's sanity when he was employed there.

"This disintegrates any hope McCauley might have had of escaping the noose," Rankin said.

A previous letter describing McCauley as a patient at the institution was presented to the Supreme Court along with other matters in the request for an appeal. The court, in granting the appeal, delayed McCauley's execution beyond the January 17 date originally set for it.

Subsequent correspondence disclosed a mix-up of records, Rankin said.

McCauley, a 35-year-old former strip miner from Davis, had been arrested on a truck theft charge when the two officers were shot.

In Cumberland, Edward J. Ryan, one of McCauley's attorneys, said he and H. G. Shores, a second defense attorney, informed Leroy Sheets, West Virginia probation officer who was investigating the case, and also have set forth in their brief, the manner of the mistake and how it occurred.

Ryan, speaking for himself and Shores, said that the hospital at Stockton first furnished information regarding the mental status of Mark Roy McCauley to Dr. J. G. N. Cushing, Baltimore psychiatrist, who testified at the McCauley trial in Keyser.

Later McCauley's sister, Mrs. Ruel Rosser had further correspondence with the hospital regarding McCauley's condition and it was then developed the hospital had two men by the name of McCauley Ryan said.

One, Mark Roy McCauley, the defendant, was employed there as a farmhand but was not a patient, Ryan explained, and the other, Roy McCauley, had been in the Stockton hospital as a patient.

When the hospital discovered the error, it immediately so informed Dr. Cushing and he promptly notified Ryan and Shores about the mistake. They, in turn, notified Sheets and set out the information in their brief, Ryan related.

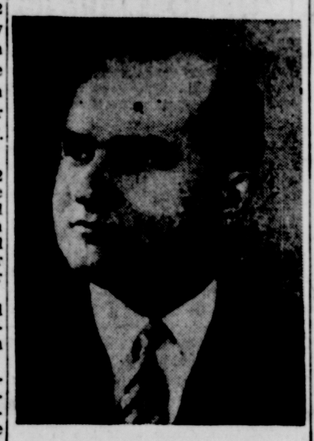
Attorneys for the defendant feel the question of insanity has no bearing on the appeal case, Ryan declared, but that the rulings of the lower court on legal matters involved are such that the Supreme Court will have to determine them, regardless of the question of sanity.

He added that counsel for the defendant feel that the question of insanity, having been submitted to the Supreme Court, has no public bearing on the question of guilt or innocence of the defendant.

Kimble Proposes Barbers' Board

ANNAPOLIS, March 12 (AP) — Sen. Kimble (R-Allegany) introduced a bill tonight setting up a board in his county to regulate barbers.

"The measure is similar to the proposed state-wide bill now before the House. It is just a safeguard, however, and if the state-wide bill passes, I will ask the governor to veto the county measure," Kimble said.



TO SPEAK HERE—Dr. William R. Barnhart, head of the department of religion at Hood College, Frederick, and former executive secretary of the Federation of Churches in Washington, D. C., will be the principal speaker tonight at 8 o'clock at First Presbyterian Church. He will address a United Christian youth rally sponsored by the county United Christian Youth Council, speaking on the topic, "The World's Challenge to Christian Youth."

Carpenters Union Names Committee On Idle Benefits

J. E. Mullenax, Flintstone, was named chairman of a committee appointed by Carpenters Local 1024 last night to study and report on an unemployment system the local might place into effect in case Senate Bill No. 63, which would amend the state Umployment Compensation law, passes the state legislature, F. Patrick Allender, business agent, reported.

Other members of the committee are B. R. Boyd, Allender, J. J. Eirich, Wallace McGill, Earl Beck, D. D. Weber and T. R. Wright.

A tentative study of the cost aspect of the system indicates, Allender said, that the plan would not prove to be a financial drain upon the local.

Allender said that less than a fourth of the members draw a month's idle pay during the year, with that largely due to unseasonable weather conditions.

Plan Deemed Possible

Since $5,000 would cover the cost during a normal year, and the 2.7 per cent now paid into the state fund averages about $12,000 yearly, there seems no reason why the local could not work out a plan of idle pay, he said.

The union reports it will merely set up a satisfactory plan in case the proposed plan becomes effective.

Cited for special censure by the Local are provisions which would give the unemployment board complete power to make decisions in case a man were fired for "any wilful act endangering the safety of others". The craft is classed as hazardous, the union reports, and no matter how a man tries, he may do things others might consider dangerous.

Union Cites Objections

Also objected to is the so called "merit clause" passed in 1945 which, Allender said, requires a man to go back to work regardless of the conditions under which he was dismissed.

Allender said an out of town board manager reports that in the schooling on the proposed law, which has already been given board employes, the term "actively seeking work" would require a man to report to the job five days a week if he is on a five-day week or six if he were employed on Saturday also. The present set up requires one to report once a week to the board, he added.

House Approves Bond Issue For County Home

Four Bills Receive Favorable Reports

An enabling act authorizing the Board of County Commissioners to issue bonds amounting to $250,000 to build an annex to the Allegany County Home and Infirmary was passed by the House of Delegates yesterday, according to Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., chairman of the Allegany County delegation.

The delegation last week amended the measure to remove the power of the County Commissioners to purchase land for the building because it is planned to build the annex on land already owned by the county. The bill carries no referendum.

Another bill passed by the House authorizes and directs the County Commissioners to sell part of the county farm fronting on Holland Street for building sites, giving veterans of World Wars I and II first chance to buy.

Joint Resolution Passed

The measure was introduced by Delegate John T. Fey. The land extends back 120 feet from Holland Street and is 1,200 to 1,500 feet long. The bill proposes the land be sub-divided into approximately 30 lots, each 50 feet wide and 120 feet deep.

A joint resolution introduced by the county delegation, asking the General Assembly to oppose any move to discontinue Frostburg State Teachers' College, was passed by the House and will be sent to the Senate.

Two bills were introduced in the Senate by Senator Robert B. Kimble (R-Allegany). One would include the Cumberland tax collector in the city merit system, while the other relates to leaves of absence and compensation of Cumberland policemen.

Senator Lawrence Fraley of Garrett County introduced a bill to allow Garrett County Commissioners to borrow up to $1,500,000 for constructing and improving school buildings.

Reported Out Favorably

Four bills were reported out favorably by the executive committee of the Allegany County delegation. One was a measure introduced by Senator Kimble, repealing a local law allowing the City of Cumberland to exempt from taxation certain tracts of land within the city limits.

The law was originally intended to apply to land used for farming purposes, but since it was passed the city has expanded and certain tracts are no longer used for that purpose.

A favorable report was also given to a bill introduced in the House by Delegate Noel Speir Cook of Frostburg, which would raise the

Midnight Fire Guts Westernport Theatre

Roof Collapses As Firemen Fight Blaze

A fire which firemen described as difficult to fight had spread to a second two-story frame building in which Leo Kidwell operates a restaurant at 1 a. m. today and was reported making considerable headway. Firemen expressed fear that other buildings in the vicinity might ignite shortly.

The roof of a two-story frame building which houses The Star, Westernport's only theater, collapsed early this morning as firemen from five companies fought to confine the blaze of undetermined origain to the Main Street structure.

Discovered at 11:15 p. m., firemen said the blaze apparently started in the ware room of A. L. Loomis' grocery store but spread quickly to the theater section of the building, where a crowd from the last show had left shortly before.

The blaze which first burned inside the walls and up to the roof as it gutted the building and destroyed supports, was still raging at 12:30 a. m. and firemen held little hope of saving the building, owned by James A. Welsh, who also operates the theater.

Merchants Moving Equipment

Two nearby merchants were reported moving restaurant equipment and clothing store merchandise into the street, as police roped the street off and rerouted traffic down the side roads. Many persons were gathered and presented an additional hazard, firemen said.

No estimate of the damage could be obtained, but firemen said the building appeared to be a total loss, with the blaze destroying the interior of the theater before the flames broke through the walls.

A man identified only as "Sonny" Rinard noticed the blaze from the window of his home and called the Tri-Towns Fire Company, who in turn called Potomac Fire Company, Piedmont, Bloomington, Barton and Lonaconing.

Scanty Water Supply

As the blaze gained momentum, volunteers from four of the companies played streams on the burning building while Lonaconing firemen pumped water from nearby George's Creek in an effort to augment the scanty supply.

Joseph Nelson, a clothing store proprietor, was reported moving his stock out of the next door building and Leo Kidwell, who operates a restaurant adjacent to the burning building, was moving electrical equipment to the street.

Spectators who were watching the fire said firemen apparently held little hope of saving the theater or grocery store and were turning their attention on the adjacent properties in an effort to stop the blaze from spreading up and down the Main Street in the heart of the business section.

Commissioner Light Is In Hospital

Street Commissioner Myers G. Light was reported in good condition and resting fairly well at midnight last night in Memorial Hospital, where he was admitted at 9:30 p. m. after becoming ill while in his office at City Hall late yesterday afternoon.

Dr. Samuel M. Jacobson, the family physician, was summoned to City Hall and arranged for a cot to be set up in the rear of the city engineer's office, where the commissioner remained for approximately five hours until it was considered safe for him to be moved.

Miss Jeannette Bonig, executive secretary of the Associated Charities, whose office is on the second floor of City Hall; Mayor Thomas S. Post and Miss Grace Hardman, public health nurse, remained during the evening.

Dr. Jacobson did not reveal the nature of the illness.

Tax Collector Is Given Extension To Finish Duties

Does Not Mean He'll Remain In Court House

An old fued between the Board of County Commissioners and Lucian C. Radcliffe, county tax collector, seemed on the verge of eruption again yesterday when Radcliffe was granted a year's extension of office by Chief Judge William A. Huster in Circuit Court.

In making application, Radcliffe explained that an extension of his office term was necessary to permit him to perform his duties in collecting outstanding taxes for the county and state. Records in the County Commissioners office showed that $25,023.59 were outstanding on February.

"Ordinary Procedure"

Judge Huster termed the issuance of extension "an ordinary procedure," and said it has been the custom of tax collectors in previous years to apply for an extension at the experation of their terms to protect bonds.

The extension neither gives Radcliffe the right to remain in the Court House office nor makes it necessary for him to vacate it, Judge Huster explained, adding the order granted yesterday deals with an entirely different matter.

However, two members of the Board of County Commissioners were busy yesterday afternoon with their attorney checking legal documents to determine if Radcliffe's extension also gave him the right to use the county office for another year.

Both commissioners C. N. "Jerry" Wilkinson, board president, and William Lemmert refused comment yesterday and said they would wait until they had consulted the board attorney.

Officials in the tax collector's office said the extension was sought to protect them from being held responsible for outstanding taxes without the legal right to make collections.

Begin Levying

The 60 days on service has expired, one collector said, and now liens are being levied on all property where taxes are still outstanding and the tax collector proposes to advertise the properties for sale within one week after levying. The official explained that such a procedure is necessary since "we have been notified to vacate after our term of office."

The reference was made to a recent incident when the commissioners attempted to evict Radcliffe and his office force from the space provided for the tax collector during his term of office.

Tax officials said the extension was sought when they were unable to find a law that automatically gives the collector an additional year in which to collect outstanding taxes.

Contract Meeting Set

Workers of the Green Spring, W. Va., plant of the Koppers Company will meet Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Green Spring School to discuss and vote on a company counter proposal, C. E. Stutzman, business agent of Local 453, Teamsters Union, said yesterday. The contract, covering some 125 employes of the tie treating plant expires March 31, he added.

Lane Rejects Whitworth's Request For More Funds For County Asylum

Gov. William Preston Lane, Jr., yesterday turned down a request of Delegate Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., for an additional state appropriation for the Allegany County asylum.

Whitworth said the Governor felt the county has a just claim for more money and that he is sympathetic to the request, but that he does not know where the money can be obtained.

The Governor reminded Whitworth, the latter said, that he increased the appropriation for the asylum this year to $10,000 while it has been $8,000 for some years.

Whitworth said he feels that as a legislator he has done all he can to obtain an additional appropriation in the supplemental budget, and that if the matter is to be pursued further it will be in the hands of the County Commissioners who can take legal action. Whitworth wanted the appropriation to be increased to $20,000.

Adopts Favorable Report

The House of Delegates yesterday adopted a favorable report of the Ways and Means Committee on a joint resolution requesting the Secretary of the Interior to sell to the City of Cumberland property of the old Chesapeake and Ohio Canal Company.

The resoluion was sponsored by Delegate Charles M. See. It declares that the city planning commission hopes to construct a modern highway which would provide a direct route to the municipal airport and would relieve traffic congestion in the city. Conduits under the highway would provide for sewage disposal.

The canal extends along the Potomac River and Wills Creek. If the resolution is passed, the Maryland Secretary of State would be directed to send copies bearing the Great Seal of Maryland to the Secretary of the Interior as well as to Maryland's members of the House of Representatives and the United States Senate.

Sealpers' Bill

Delegate Noel Speir Cook introduced a bill yesterday in the House that would curb scalping on tickets to high school athletic contests.

Cook said it has been brought to his attention at numerous times that gamblers bought up tickets to

County Women Are Urged To Support Jury Service Bill

Individual women and women's organizations in Cumberland and Allegany County were urged last night to write to the county delegation in Annapolis in favor of the measure calling for women to serve on juries.

Mrs. John A. Cupler, II, education chairman of the Cumberland branch, American Association of University Women, said she plans to contact Miss Ruby Adams, legislative chairman of the local group, asking her to write to Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., chairman of the Allegany County delegation, regarding the bill.

When the Senate passed the bill 20-9 on February 20, Senator Robert B. Kimble (R-Allegany) was quoted as stating he opposed the measure because he was convinced that the people of his constituency was opposed to it.

"Women in this county were not consulted in the matter," Mrs. Cupler stated. "We will be only half citizens if we are not permitted to serve on juries as men are."

Although no formal action has been taken by the Cumberland branch of the AAUW as yet, Mrs. Cupler said that the state organization favors the measure.
